WPA Bogs Down as 'Pump Primer' In Richland

ONLY 180 AT WORK ON JOB SET UP FOR 970

Failure to Send Cement for Walk Project Threatens to Force Layoff of 250.

CITY LOANS 750 BARRELS

District Director Says Ohio Over WPA Quota, No More to Be Assigned for Month.

The federal government's attempt to prime the recovery pump through WPA projects had bogged down today so far as Richland county was concerned.

That was indicated by the following developments:

1. Revised figures showed that only 180 men were at work on the county's $1,000,000 road and bridge program, which was intended to employ 970.

2. WPA has failed to furnish cement, according to its agreement, for the city's curb and gutter project, and

3. As the result, the city may have to shut down this project, throwing 250 men out of work.

Not only has WPA failed to provide its share of the cement for this project, it was learned today, but the city has advanced or "loaned" WPA cement worth approximately $1,600 to keep men at work, and there was no indication today as to how the city would be reimbursed.

Blames WPA Engineers.

Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert blamed "laxity" by district WPA engineers in requisitioning cement to keep the curb and gutter job moving for the past month.

Styert said that WPA officials in Columbus had promised a month ago to deliver cement in Mansfield to keep the 250 men on the project employed.

In the meantime, Styert said, the city from its gasoline tax fund purchased 750 barrels of cement at approximately $1,600 to keep the men at work and now it has no assurance that the "loan" would be repaid.

He added that it had been customary to advance materials when WPA had run low and then

Weighed In, Set For Derby

Bobby Sawyer, 15, of Harding road, is ready for the News-Journal Soap Box Derby to be held at Sturges Hill Wednesday. The photo above shows Bobby "weighing in" at the trials held on the Derby course this week, and the combined weight of the young driver and his car were well under the weight limit of 250 pounds. While there may be fancier cars in the race Wednesday, Bobby doubts whether there are any faster. The scales at the trials were manipulated by E. L. Ayres, right, Mansfield manager of the Toledo Scale company, and his assistant, Bob Coffey, left. Part of the crowd of more than 300 which witnessed the trials can be seen in the backround.

Mexico To Reject Oil Settlement Demand, Belief

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—Informed quarters believed today President Lazaro Cardenas would reject United States secretary of State Cordell Hull's request that Mexico arbitrate American claims growing out of expropriated American-owned farmlands.

Cardenas announced a reply to Hull's note would be made next week. It was understood it was being drafted.

In an interview the president said his administration intends to continue its policies of tending to "ameliorate the masses," regardless of foreign demands for immediate payment or return of properties expropriated by the government.

He asserted Mexico was anxious to pay for everything expropriated—including foreign-owned oil properties—but that it was impossible to do so unless she was able to sell her oil abroad.

SISTERS VANISH

Police Asked to Hunt Girls, Gone Since Saturday.

Mansfield police today were asked to look for two sisters who disappeared from their home last Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Sheetz, 86 Daisy street, reported to police today that her two daughters, Virginia, 19, and Anna, 18, left home then and have not been heard from since.

She told police she came home to find a note on the table saying that the girls were going to the lake and would be home Monday. She said she believed they had left with two youths whom she did not know. Police said she told them she did not know exactly where the girls had gone.

She said both girls were medium build, and had brown hair. They wore light clothing and were without coats.

CUT-OFF PAVING CONTRACT'S LET

Chillicothe Firm to Start Work Before End of Week, Engineer Announces.

Contract for paving the Windsor cut-off on route 42 northeast of Mansfield today had been awarded to W. H. Ringwald and Sons, Chillicothe, and work will be underway on the project before the end of the week, Boyd Wierman, resident state highway engineer, said.

Started nearly four years ago as a CWA project, work on the cut-off has been delayed repeatedly by lack of funds and difficulties in obtaining right-of-way easements.

The Chillicothe firm already has applied to the Mansfield office of the National Reemployment bureau for 250 men for the job, which must be completed in 200 working days.

Wierman said construction would go ahead despite four suits over easement rights, pending in Richland county common pleas courts, filed by property owners along the route who refused to accept the amounts offered them for their land.

The Chillicothe contractors were awarded the job on their low bid of $252,057, approximately $28,000 under the state highway department's estimate.

The contract calls for paving of the 3.59 miles of highway with concrete and brick to a width of 20 feet. When complete, the new road will shorten the distance between Mansfield and Ashland by about a mile and a half and eliminate a number of dangerous curves.

Funds for the project will be provided by the state highway department and the federal government.

Story of Girl Who Lived In 2 Worlds Told In New Serial

Maud McCurdy Welch, who has written more than 300 stories, ranging from magazine articles to full length novels, is the author of "Two Worlds," the full length novel which will be run in serial form in The News-Journal starting on Page 2 today.

Her stories have been published in magazines and newspapers in the United States, Canada, and Great Britain.

"Two Worlds" is the story of a girl who tried to live in two entirely different worlds at one time; the world to which she was born and in which she had a $100,000 a year income, and another world in which she found herself penniless, jobless, and finding comfort in the strange bedraggled girl she met on a park bench.

Out of that meeting comes a friendship that makes good reading because of its contracting lights and shadows in breeding and environment.

The man in the case is a young physician—at least one of them is. Of course there are others—and she met them in the most unexpected places. When she was working as a "taxi dancer" in a dance palace, there was the young man with the too-good memory whom she had met at a prom in Washington. The men of one world kept popping up in the other world in which she found herself.

A CLOSE CALL

Firemen Find It Was Dynamite Cargo On Blazing Truck.

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—(AP)—C. C. Forsman of Flora, Ill., called firemen to put out a fire in his truck.

They beat out flames on the floor boards and on some wooden boxes Forsman was hauling to Kentucky.

The firemen "blew up" when Forsman told them what was in the boxes. It was 400 pounds of dynamite.

Hedges P. T. A. Climbs Aboard Bandwagon, OK's School Bonds

The Hedges Parent-Teacher association today was the latest of the P. T. A groups to climb aboard the school bond issue bandwagon which rapidly is taking on most of the organized groups of the city.

At a meeting at the school last night, attended by 40 persons, the association unanimously endorsed the proposed school bond issue and voted to contribute to the campaign fund for the issue on a motion made by Mrs. Joseph Scanlon.

Among the members who urged approval was Philip Smith, former councilman and former head of the City Recreation commission, who pointed to the need for increased manual training facilities (the building program includes manual training shops at the two junior high schools and a new shop building at Senior High.)

C. D. Pore presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Walton Leedy, who was out of the city. H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education spoke. He also showed pictures, which were explained by Superintendent W. L. Miller, of the present John Simpson building and the old section of the Hedges building.

Arlin explained that the building program included a new auditorium for Hedges school. Hedges Junior high school would be absorbed in the proposed new Johnny Appleseed building on Cline avenue, a site that is the approximate center of the south section of the city, and recommended by the Bureau of Educational Research of Ohio State university last year after a survey.

Tonight at Carpenter school Board Member Harold Bruce will present the facts on the bond issue. Tomorrow night they will talk to the Brinkerhoff association.

12,000 AT FAIR OPENING, 'NEW DAY' DAWNING

Board Sees Successful Expo Both From Standpoint of Attendance, Finances.

DAREDEVILS THRILL CROWD

'City-County Day' Expected to Fill Grounds Again Today; Vaudeville Tonight.

A record "opening day" crowd of 12,000 which filled the Richland county fairground yesterday and last night gave fair board officials reason to believe today that a "new day" was dawning for county fairs here—both from a standpoint of finances and spectator interest.

The board also looked for another record-smasher in attendance today. The courthouse and city hall were closed this afternoon in the observance of "City-County" day at the fair. Thursday's fair programs are always the biggest drawing card for farm folk.

Autos Crash Head-On.

The grandstand was packed last night when the fair's thrill show by daredevil automobile and motorcycle drivers performed on the race track. Standing room was at a premium and crowds lined the fences circling the track.

The head-on collision of two automobiles speeding at 50 miles an hour gave the crowd its greatest thrill. The cars came together with a terrific crash and were reduced to a mass of wreckage. Drivers of the vehicles stayed at the wheels until just a moment before the impact.

Motorcycles and an automobile bursting through blazing board walls; a "wrecking derby" between four automobiles which lasted until all but one was completely disabled; and demonstrations of expert handling of automobiles and motorcycles traveling at break-neck speed were other highlights of the program. Two of the drivers had narrow squeaks, but escaped with torn clothing and leg bruises.

Rain Halts Races.

A crowd was also on hand for the harness race program in the

NEW PURGE DUE

Moscow Shakes Up Police for Drive on More 'Enemies.'

MOSCOW—(U.P.)—Gregory Gorbach has been named chief of Russian secret police in the Far East, it was announced today, as part of a big scale purge of alleged "enemies of the state" and spies.

Gorbach was chief of secret police in the Novosibirsk region of the Far East. Now he replaces in supreme police command of the entire, vital far eastern area, Gen. Genlik Lushkov.

Vassily Dementiev has been named head of the special secret police division for the Pacific fleet, for Vladivostok and for the maritime province of Siberia. He was secret-police chief at Archangel.

Coincident with the news of the Far East appointments came the disclosure that Peter Sergei, 60, Green Orthodox church metropolitan, had been arrested at Rostov.

HOTEL PLUNGE VICTIM BURIED

Scores Turned Back In Attempt to See N. Y. Corpse.

NEW YORK—(AP)—John W. Warde, 26, who died Tuesday night in a spectacular suicide leap from a 17th floor hotel window ledge here while thousands watched, will be buried tomorrow in the Evergreen cemetery in Brooklyn.

Private funeral services, attended by the family of the unemployed bank clerk, will precede the interment.

Since his death scores of persons have telephoned the mortuary for permission to view his body but all were refused.

BROTHERS SLAIN

? Found Shot to Death on Farm In Pennsylvania.

MILFORD, Pa. — (INS) — Two brothers—Frank Cartese, 26, and Carl, 13—were found shot to death today on their Lackawaxen township farm, about 35 miles from here, state police reported.

Proposed New John Simpson Building

There would be no excuse for a boy or girl playing hookey if they had a junior building like this would there? It is the architect's drawing of the proposed new John Simpson Junior high school building a long two-story structure fireproof throughout, with modernized classic lines and a maximum of window space. It would face West Fourth street, on the present site. Vernon Redding and Associates designed the proposed new building.

LEWIS BIG OHIO PRIMARY ISSUE

Sawyer Charges Governor Inciting Labor Hatred; Davey Flays CIO.

(By Associated Press)

John L. Lewis and his committee for Industrial Organization developed today into a major bone of contention between Gov. Martin L. Davey and Charles Sawyer in their fight for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Seeking to capitalize on the endorsement of Sawyer by labor's non-partisan league, a C. I. O. affiliate, the governor declared at Jackson:

"It is Martin Davey and John L. Lewis in this primary just as sure as though Lewis were on this ticket."

At Waverly he pictured Lewis as "one of the most dangerous men in the United States who "sent armed pickets" into the Mahoning Valley steel strike "to kill people whose only offense was that they wanted to return to work."

"I am for the American Federation of Labor," Davey declared.

Sawyer at Canton deplored what he said was the governor's attempt to "create discord within the ranks of labor."

"There can be no lasting law and order in Ohio's labor front so long as the governor persists in inciting hatred, bitterness and disrust," he added.

Governor Davey and the C. I. O. have been warring ever since the state's chief executive instructed the National Guard to protect a back to work movement of employes in the steel strike called by the CIO last year.

"Nothing can possibly be gained by stirring up distrust and pouring

CORRIGAN MAKES 'LEGAL' FLIGHT

Takes Over Controls of British Imperial Airways Plane.

DUBLIN—(U.P.)—Douglas Corrigan made an "authorized" flight yesterday while returning from London, it was learned today.

During the trip, the California "wrong direction" flier took over the controls of the British Imperial Airways liner on which he was a passenger and for the second time piloted a plane over Irish territory.

Corrigan slept late and spent most of his time at the American legation. He leaves for Queenstown tomorrow night and will sail on the United States liner Manhattan Saturday for New York.

TRAIN KILLS 2

Cincy Youths Die In Blazing Wreckage At Crossing.

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Russell Prock, 19, and Frank Beinkamp, 20, both of Cincinnati, were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into the side of a speeding Baltimore and Ohio freight locomotive in the suburban northside.

Both bodies were charred almost beyond recognition when the car burst into flames after the impact.

AUTO KILLS BOY, 15

LIMA — (U.P.) — Boyd Erwin, 15, was killed last night when his bicycle was struck by an automobile driven by William Boyd, 31. Boyd said lights of another automobile blinded him and that he did not see the cyclist.

Sturdy Exterior Hides John Simpson Firetrap

Inside It's Dingy, Inflammable, Unsanitary and Outmoded; New Building to Provide Exact Opposite For 1,300 Pupils.

EDITOR'S NOTE: With the primary election less than two weeks away, the outstanding local question is the $550,000 school bond issue, which proposes two new junior high school buildings as well as repairs to grade schools. To answer questions as to how badly new junior high schools are needed, The News-Journal assigned a staff writer to visit the present buildings and describe conditions. Today's story concerns John Simpson.

By JANE WILLIAMS

John Simpson Junior High building, at the corner of West Fourth and Bowman streets, is a rather handsome and imposing building, even in this stream line age.

It is sturdily constructed of brick, trimmed with sandstone. It has arched entrances, and there's an air of permanence about it, and the tower with its ageless clock—even if it doesn't run for years at a time. Probably those thick brick walls, constructed almost a half century ago, would stand for another 50 years or longer.

But that's the outside of the building. Let's go inside.

The thing that impresses you first is the long hall that runs the full length of the big building, approximately 200 feet. When all the outside doors are closed, it's a little gloomy. As a matter of fact, it isn't anywhere nearly so cheerful and light as the long steel and glass corridor in the new wing of Ohio penitentiary.

All along the hall, on all sides there is once-handsome woodwork—high, sturdy solid wood doors and frames. And wood floors too, with wooden joists, that are as dry as tinder and floors that have been oiled for many years. (In modern public buildings floors are of fireproof steel and concrete, but John Simpson was built before fire proof construction was developed.)

Calls It Firetrap.

The stairways, also of wood, that lead from the first to the third floors were very grand at one time

TAR BLAST KILLS

Vet Road Supervisor Meets Death Near Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS — Explosion of a barrel of tar over which he was working, instantly killed William C. Renner, 54, supervisor of roads in Chatfield township, Wednesday afternoon in Chatfield, north of here.

Renner suffered a broken neck, and a fractured nose and left shoulder. The explosion blew out the end of the barrel, which struck him in the face, according to Darl Williams and Howard Ostermyer, Chatfield, who were working with Renenr.

The three were preparing a road mixture at the rear of the township hall. It is believed that gas generated in the barrel was ignited by fire being used to melt the tar.

Renner, born Feb. 15, 1884 in Chatfield township, had spent his entire life there, and had been township road supervisor for 20 years. He was a member of the Nazareth Lutheran church. His only survivor is a half brother, Earl E. Snyder of Chatfield.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home here, with Rev. Paul Dornbier officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Stores To Close Half Hour For 'Sales Mean Jobs' Rally

Mansfield's shopping district will take on the appearance of a quiet Sunday afternoon for a half hour Tuesday morning when stores will remain closed while more than a thousand retail sales people attend the "Sales Mean Jobs" meeting at the Madison theater.

This meeting precedes the public rally in Central park Tuesday night to fire the opening gun of the "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign.

Sales people will meet at their respective places of business at 8:20 a. m. and will march in groups to the theater. Stores will remain closed until 9:30.

This morning the first of a series of pep talks was given to the employes of the Kobacker store. Employes were invited to breakfast at the store and were addressed by C. M. Crafton, president of the Retail Merchants association.

Crafton, pointing out that the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade has proven successful in other cities, said that a retail transaction took two parties, the buyer and the seller, and that it was important that the seller be just as interested in the transaction as the buyer.

"Sell with a smile," he said, "and be sold on the merchandise you have to sell. Don't just show the customer what he asks for; sell him on it after you show it to him."

Manufacturers, wholesalers and employers of sales people in other lines of merchandise met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce and pledged co-operation and support of the drive.

ORDER STORES TO GET RID OF CASH DEVICES

Chief Says Proprietors Have Taken Advantage of Regulations.

OFFICERS ISSUE WARNING

Gasoline Dealers Consider Withdrawing Petition for Lottery Ban.

Police today launched an unannounced drive to rid the city of punchboards.

Officers called at stores and business places of all kinds today, where such devices were known to have been displayed and used, instructing proprietors to get rid of them immediately.

Chief Meade K. Bates said the drive, city wide in its scope, was directed only against punchboards which paid money.

Allow Merchandise Boards.

"Proprietors of stores have taken advantage of the fact that they have been permitted to operate punchboards on which a merchandise return is made, and have installed money boards," he said. "We are simply ordering the money boards out."

All officers on the day shift, which went to work at 8 a. m., were instructed to call on establishments where boards were believed in operation and warn proprietors to get rid of money boards. No boards were confiscated, he said.

He said the order was not influenced by the petition, filed with Council Clerk William Beer yesterday, asking a ban on all lotteries and schemes of chance. The petition was filed by the Gasoline Retailers' association.

Aim at 'Gift Awards' Only.

Officers of the gasoline dealers' association said today, however, that the wording of their petition had perhaps been too all-inclusive. They explained that their intention was to ask council to legislate against "gift awards" such as were made by a number of gasoline stations in recent months, but which had been discontinued by agreement.

It was learned that a movement had been started today by directors of the association to have the petition withdrawn. It has not yet come before council for attention.

"What we intended," a spokesman for the association said today, "was simply to prevent a repetition of the situation that existed in our own business. We did not seek to play the role of 'clean-up' crusaders.

GUARD HEARING

Extra Police Placed on Duty at 'Little Steel' Quiz.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Capitol police today took extra precautions to preserve order at the hearing of the senate civil liberties committee into activities of Republic and other steel companies during the 1937 "little steel" strike. The hearing room was jammed with spectators.

Testimony late yesterday that Elmer Lohman, a Cleveland night club operator, while working for the steel workers organizing committee for about three weeks prior to July 20 had supplied Republic with information on the union's activities, came as a surprise.

Evidence was submitted that he had turned over to Republic the names of men he signed up for the union. Many of these men were immediately discharged by the company, it was claimed.

DAM COLLAPSES

Waters Sweep Into Town; Electric Power Shut Off.

ANACONDA, Mont. — (U.P.) — Electrical power was shut off for inspection and many homes were without water or natural gas today after a 3,000,000 gallon reservoir burst four miles west of town, without warning.

There was no loss of life, but the damage to property was extensive. An area of 22 square blocks in the business and residential section was littered with debris swept in by flood waters.

ARSON HINTED

$1,000,000 Canadian Pier Fire Probed At Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(AP)—Officials hinted today that the spectacular $1,000,000 fire which destroyed pier D of the Canadain Pacific Railway company and injured seven persons yesterday might have been the work of an arsonist.

Cracker Box Adds to Tasty Meals

(The Home Kitchen)
By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Cracker-box cookery is more popular than ever in the summer time, when quick meals are required. Cracker cookery is ideal for using up those odds and ends, those little dishes of this and that which in our thrifty moments we tuck away in the refrigerator and then throw away, annoyed with ourselves for being hoarders.

Many of the recipes call for crumbled crackers. There are various ways of crumbling crackers. Some kinds may be easily crumbled right into the mixing bowl—two or three at the time—with the fingers and thumbs. Other kinds are more quickly and easily rolled into crumbs. A good way to do this is to put the required number of crackers in a large paper bag and roll with a rolling pin.

Olive cheese mold is grand for luncheon. It requires 10 soda crackers, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup hot milk, one package cream cheese, one-quarter pound cottage cheese, tablespoon minced onion and one-half cup stuffed olives. Blend cream cheese and cottage cheese. Crumble crackers fine, add salt and pour hot milk over them. Cool and mix with cheese and onion Fold in olives, sliced. Pour in mold and chill. Unmold on platter. Garnish with watercress or lettuce.

Jellied tuna mayonnaise is another good luncheon suggestion. It takes two teaspoons gelatine, one-quarter cup cold water, two tablespoons vinegar, one and one-half teaspoons salt, 10 soda crackers, crumbled; one-half cup mayonnaise, cup flaked tuna fish, also one teaspoon minced onion and one-half cup minced celery. Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes, then add boiling water, vinegar, salt and crackers. When slightly thickened, beat in the mayonnaise, and fold in the fish, onion and celery. Turn into mold. Chill till firm. Unmold on crisp salad greens. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Persian pudding is a quickly-made sweet that can grace any meal. Beat one cup cream, add two tablespoons powdered sugar, one-half tablespoon grated orange rind and one-half teaspoon vanilla, and into three-quarters of it fold 24 saltina biscuits crumbled fine To make the sauce, boil one cup orange juice and one-half cup sugar together gently for three minutes. Stir in one teaspoon grated orange rind and cool. Serve over pudding and garnish with other quarter of whipped cream mixture.

PREPARE THE GROUND

WHENEVER there is a "double major tenace" in your holdings—that is an ace-queen-ten—you should prepare the ground if possible before taking the first finesse. If you are able to eliminate all other suits except trumps from both the dummy and your closed hand, one-half of the double finesse is sure to work. After the first finesse loses, the defender must lead into your remaining tenace or else lead a suit which gives you a ruff in one hand and a discard in the other.

This deal arose in a rubber game and the South player started off with a 2-Heart bid. West overcalled this with 2-Spades and North and East passed. After 3-Hearts by South, North went to 4-Hearts and South contracted for 6-Hearts.

Declarer won the first trick with the spade A and cashed the A and K of hearts. He then went to dummy with the heart 4 to the 9 and finessed the 9 of diamonds, which lost to West's J West returned a club to South's Q. The heart 8 was next played and taken with the 10 in dummy for a second finesse. When this failed, South considered himself most unfortunate that both finesses failed. The kibitzers pointed out to him that the simple expedient of cashing his three high clubs before attempting a diamond finesse would have saved the day.

—Beauty— Neck, Chin Need Care, Massage

By MME. QUI VIVE

With some kinds of wrinkles, one can live in peace. Laughing lines around the eyes, for instance. Nobody likes them, but they aren't disfiguring. After the age of thirty-five they're likely to come to any woman. One doesn't get a worry sickness about them, stay awake o' nights, wonder how much one would have to pay for a rejuvenating treatment. Sun-ray lines around the eyes pop out when you laugh, often smooth themselves out when the face is in repose.

But an accordion pleated neck and a chin that quivers and quavers take the heart out of the most courageous time-fighter. It is a queer combination, but a common sight—a chin that has acquired fullness and a neck that has gone so completely haywire that it is a tangle of fleshy strings. It is about the meanest swat that old Father Time hands to the members of the sisterhood.

Two causes there are for this unpleasant state of affairs. They are (1) the development of adipose tissue and its dissolution, which leaves the cutaneous covering loose; and (2) the bad habit of carrying the chin low. Dropping the chin gives the neck fibers a prolonged holiday. They weaken because they don't work and the fiddle string condition is the result. If correction is to come about, the first step is to practice head pose. Keep the head on the level. Typists please take notice.

From collar-bones to chin tip the flesh must be toned. When tissues gives way there may be cross lines or up and down ditches. When treatment starts, pledge yourself to be persistent. That means daily care for at least a month. And an ever-present consciousness of correct, vibrant carriage.

Get busy after the nightly bath, when the flesh is clean and glowing from contact with soap and warm water. Have the skin dry, very dry. Get a massage emollient, firm enough to keep the fingers from slipping. Sit in a low chair before your dressing-table. Throw your head back, spread out fingers and thumbs, palm from the upper portion of the chest to the tip of the chin, from collar bones to the ears. Rub up and down. There is no need of keeping to the upward stroke, as one does when treating the face.

Pick up the flesh under the chin, roll between thumb and finger. Do little nips. Use both hands. Then more stroking. Place finger-tips together at the napeline, knead with the lower parts of the palms. In two minutes the flesh should be steaming hot. That shows that blood streams are scampering. They are bringing nourishment and repair materials.

Wring a small towel out of ice cold water, slap it on the throat, cover with a dry towel and go to bed. In the morning, sponge the face and neck with cold water, apply witch hazel, letting it dry on. In half an hour you can have fun with foundation cosmetic, powder and lip stick, do your prettiest with beauty aids.

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I AM sure there was no person in the kitchen whose pulse did not beat faster at the announcement of the captain of the state troopers that a car was coming along the wood road.

The face of Mother Graham, who had just come into the room from finishing the concoction of her famous salad in the dining room, was fairly shining with excitement. Katie's eyes were two lambent flames and her body was quivering, while my heart was emulating a trip hammer. Even Dicky could not quite control the muscles of the "poker face" which is his usual mask in times of strong emotions.

That the captain of the state troopers shared our excitement, despite his elaborate matter-of-fact air, was something easily discernible. Pride in his office and delight at being the god of the machine in this bizarre adventure were vibrant in every line of his tall, well-built figure, and he did not need a question to set him going upon a voluble explanation supplementing his piece of news.

Captain Is Proud.

"We pulled a fast one on this, he said. "Without telling anybody why we commandeered a phone at the house nearest the wood road, and at Ticer's down this road. We had a motorcycle officer in the shadows just outside the wood road, and another sitting on the phone at Ticer's. The second after the driver of the car gave the sign to the guard who was to pass the car along, the motorcycle officer dashed for the phone, and said O. K. to our man at Ticer's. Then that man came down the road here in nothing flat, and there you are."

It was lucky, I thought, that the Ticers are bound to us by "hoops of steel" because of our long association as neighbors, and that Mrs Ticer is discretion's soul itself, with the power and ability to keep closed the mouths of her husband and her son. For I knew them all well enough to be sure that the state trooper on the motorcycle was not out of their yard before Sam Ticer and his gangling son, Jerry, were ensconced in a vantage point from which they could see the direction the officer took, and could also note that he turned in our driveway.

"Somethin' big and mysterious doing at the Grahams agin."

I could hear Sam Ticer's excited voice speaking those words to his wife as plainly as if he really had spoken them in my hearing. And I also could hear her caustic reply:

"See that you both keep your mouths shut about somethin' that's none of your business."

Women to Stay?

But Dicky was speaking real words, not imaginary ones, and I gave an attentive ear to them.

"Even if your men came on a flying trapeze," he said, "the car on the wood road had a start. It ought to be here any minute now."

"That's what I came in to tell you," the captain said, blandly, unconscious that he had wasted precious seconds in his tale of his men's prowess.

"Look here!" Dicky said bluntly. "Hadn't the women better go upstairs until after this car gets here?"

There was something in his voice which told me he had been thinking of Katie's suggestion of possible secret and dangerous prisoners arriving to be guarded in Mary's room with the barred windows. I was frankly incredulous myself, and was wild with curiosity—as I knew were both Katie and my mother-in-law—to see the mysterious guests for whom my father's code message had prepared me.

But I have learned in a bitter school that nothing is so infuriating as a woman demanding to be exposed to possible danger when there is no reason for her presence. I knew that if I were needed in this emergency, I should be justified in remaining, and that in all probability Dicky would make no protest. But as things were, I resigned myself to the inevitable even before I heard the captain's reply.

"It might be as well," he asserted, and my mother-in-law trumpeted defiance.

"I'm not going to stir a step from this room," she said.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, July 29.

This should be a very lively and enterprising day, according to the astral influences, with much movement in connection with letters, writings, publishing and promotion. Both old and new matters are under stimulation for profitable deals, yet there are signs of difficulties or misunderstandings with elders or old institutions. Complications and perplexities and also an element of romance or adventure loom, with perhaps a dramatic experience in the social life. Employment is fairly aspected for prosperity.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of very progressive and profitable conditions in employment and also in all involving writings, publications, advertising and publicity. However, there are entanglements or anxieties concerning elders or old institutions. In private affairs there may be adventure or romance of a thrilling nature.

A child born on this day may be mentally keen, versatile, enterprising and ambitious, attracting its employers by its attention to detail and system. Although critical and calculating, it possibly will have success in writing and publicity or in commercial lines.

THEATER

THE box office success of "Love Finds Andy Hardy" should teach producers something—but it wont, because they've had the same sort of lesson before. The picture did an exceptionally good business, considering the weather, in fact, it probably took business away from the Bob Burns-Martha Raye picture. The Hardy picture is an episode in a series, not even listed as a class A picture, and there are no stars in it. But it has that "something" that picture fans are always hoping they'll find in a film—and seldom do. It certainly didn't cost much to produce it, nor take very much time, but for real entertainment, the average picture goer would prefer it to some of the so-called "super-colossals." It's true that two adolescent kids held the center of the story and the screen—but they kept audiences howling.

* * *

Problem Play.

"Always Goodbye" is one of those pictures in which both contenders for a lady's heart are so attractive that you'd just as soon see one successful as the other, and for that reason it's a little difficult to guess the ending before the final fade-out. Barbara Stanwyck, Herbert Marshall and Ian Hunter are the threesome in this problem story which is being shown at the Ohio theater. A beautiful clothes model, a young surgeon and wealthy widower who is the foster father of the girl's illegitimate child, are the characters around which the story revolves. The picture marks the debut of Johnnie Russell, a five-year-old.

* * *

Pert French Girl.

Mischa Auer, Helen Broderick and Louis Hayward are supporting players in "The Rage of Paris" which stars the new Danielle Derrieux and the young Doug Fairbanks. The star of the European-made "Mayerling" is a part French girl in her first American picture, penniless in America, but with very good ideas on how to get along. Abandoning her plans to become an artists model when she gets into the wrong room by mistake, she decides that marrying a millionaire is much more sensible. But there are a lot of slips between the thought and the altar. The picture is the Madison attraction.

* * *

There's a free show in store for Mansfield twins who "pass" before Manager Wayne Williams of the Majestic. On Sunday the Majestic brings back "Penrod's Double Trouble" with the Mauch twins, Billy and Bobby. These two kids who look so much alike that no outsider can tell them apart, suggested to the management that all twins should be permitted to see the picture free. They must come in pairs and must apply to the manager personally. For the last two days of this week the theater offers a Tom Tyler action picture, "Orphan of The Pecos" a murder and a mystery in the West, and "Blake of Scotland Yard."

* * *

Lone Wolf Again.

Francis Lederer, Continental actor with personality and accent, is the latest actor to play the Lone Wolf. He portrays this supercriminal in "Lone Wolf in Paris" which opens at the Ritz tomorrow for two days. Frances Drake appears opposite him. "Call of The Mesquiteers" is another episode in the exciting lives of those three modern musketeers of the saddle and plains—Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune. A gang of Eastern racketeers come West to work their nefarious scheme and by chance the Three Mesquiteers are blamed for the crimes. Untangling this web provides them with plenty of action.

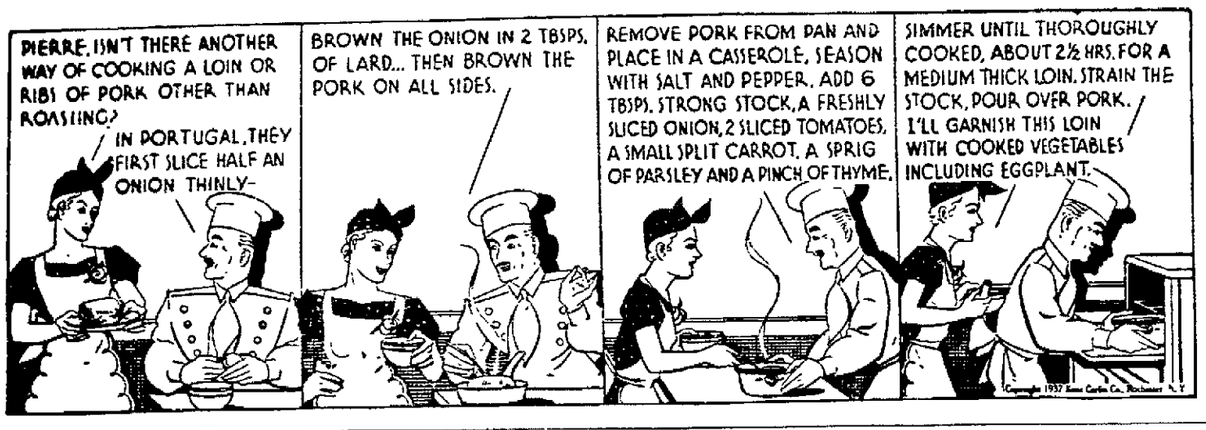
PIERRE'S RECIPES— A Weekly Market Feature



PIERRE, ISN'T THERE ANOTHER WAY OF COOKING A LOIN OR RIBS OF PORK OTHER THAN ROASTING?
IN PORTUGAL, THEY FIRST SLICE HALF AN ONION THINLY—
BROWN THE ONION IN 2 TBSPS. OF LARD... THEN BROWN THE PORK ON ALL SIDES.
REMOVE PORK FROM PAN AND PLACE IN A CASSEROLE, SEASON WITH SALT AND PEPPER. ADD 6 TBSPS. STRONG STOCK, A FRESHLY SLICED ONION, 2 SLICED TOMATOES, A SMALL SPLIT CARROT, A SPRIG OF PARSLEY AND A PINCH OF THYME.
SIMMER UNTIL THOROUGHLY COOKED, ABOUT 2½ HRS. FOR A MEDIUM THICK LOIN. STRAIN THE STOCK, POUR OVER PORK. I'LL GARNISH THIS LOIN WITH COOKED VEGETABLES INCLUDING EGGPLANT.

FLOOD DISTRICT TAXES TO START

Collection of Assessments in County to Be Included on December Tax Duplicate.

Collection of Muskingum Conservancy district benefit assessments in Richland county for 1938 today had been turned over to County Treasurer John E Kolb who will include them as special assessments, beginning with the December tax collection.

Only 22 individual property owners and public utilities, however, will be required to pay the levy which will amount to $164 64 for the year. Eleven other property holders who were assessed by the conservancy board have paid their tax in full, and a number have appealed from the assessment and will not be required to pay until their cases are heard.

All of the assessed property is in Mifflin and Monroe townships, included in the Charles Mill dam section.

Richland county paids its $2,250 assessment in a lump sum several months ago to avoid the inconvenience of semi-annual payments over a period of years, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

The conservancy board said a 10 per cent discount would be allowed all property owners who pay their assessments to the district treasurer at New Philadelphia by Aug. 20.

World Migrations Will Be Shown By Pushing a Button

BERKELEY—(INS)— Visitors to the forthcoming 1938 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island may initiate entire world migrations by the simple pushbutton method.

The "pushbutton migrations," all of them based on facts regarding the trends of restless humanity which anthropology has learned from antiquity, will be a portion of the University of California's gigantic $200,000 display at the exposition.

The course of each migration will be outlined in vivid colored lines on a huge vertical map, each migration having its own color to match a pushbutton of the same color.

Exposition visitors will be able to start a horde of mongols sweeping over central Asia; Neanderthal men trekking into Germany, and Cro-Magnon men moving westward over southern Asia, on the visual map.

FOR JULY 28

Made Parties in Case.

On application of John Jaster, jr., state highway director, Bert Hancock and Emma Hancock, R. D 2, Mansfield, made parties in case of Highway department vs. Mary A. Painter and others. The action seeks easement rights on property for right-of-way for route 42 cut-off at Windsor.

Real Estate Transfers.

Wayne B. Shafer to Blake Shafer, half interest in lot 105, Bellville.

J. M. Fry, et al., to Mary Painter, part of lot 1,726, Mansfield.

Reid D. Painter, et al., to Robert R. Painter, lots 99, 100 and 101, South Hills allotment.

DERISION FOR BANTAM

TULSA, Okla.—(U.P.)—Police Detective M. C. Sturgeon bought a new bantam rooster and took it home. His 18 hens received the newcomer with cold cackles. The aloofness reached a peak when one hen laid an egg with a perfect question mark on one end.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LONDON WIDENS EXODUS PLANS FOR AIR RAIDS

Million School Children Would Be Removed in Case of Emergency.

(By United Press)

LONDON—More than 1,000,000 London school children probably will be evacuated from the metropolis in the event of air raids in a future war.

The London County council in conjunction with the government is working out plans for evacuation of school children and closing of all schools in the London area as a precaution against the air raid menace.

More than 525,000 children under the age of 14 attend the 1,125 elementary (public) schools under the London county council's charge. There are also another 190,000 older children in the 246 secondary schools (high schools) in the London area. Thousands more children attend private schools.

Mass Evacuation Not Planned.

According to the London county council plans the evacuation would be carried out as an integral part of any scheme for general evacuation of civil populations if air raids made London uninhabitable. At present the government has no set plans for such mass migration, which in the light of tragic experiences of war-ravaged Madrid and Barcelona it is admitted would be very difficult. It is realized, however, that a series of devastating raids might make evacuation necessary.

One idea is that children in schools in danger-zones should be transferred to schools in less exposed districts That would, in practice, probably mean the immediate closing down of most schools in London's east end and eastern suburbs which bore the brunt of the worst World war air raids. Owing to its nearness to the docks and factory belt, this area of London probably would be an immediate target for bombers

A London county council committee which worked out these air raid plans suggested it probably would be necessary to close all London schools for a limited period during an emergency. The committee added, however, that it is impossible "to predict with any precision what conditions would prevail in London in the event of a future war involving attack from the air on a large scale."

The problem of evacuating children and closing schools would be made even more difficult by the fact that London probably would have at most 10 to 15 minutes warning of the approach of air raiders, compared with the half an hour or more warning during the World war.

The speed of modern bombing planes makes London probably the most vulnerable big target in Europe. Even Paris is less vulnerable, since it is at least a half hour's flight from the nearest frontier, while enemy planes could fly almost undetected until they reached the English coast.

HE'LL BARGAIN

Professor Agrees to Meet Agents of 'Striking' Students.

OMAHA, Neb.—(AP)—It seemed perfectly logical in this day of labor bargaining that Dr. W. H. Thompson, psychology professor at the University of Omaha, agreed to "bargain collectively" with his students. Their plea was for postponement of a mid-term examination. Dr. Thompson set the day on which he would meet the students' agents.

Colorado's Mines Dry In Wet Season, Wet In Dry Season

WALSENBURG, Col.—(INS)—More damage is done to southern Colorado coal mines by water during dry weather than during a period of heavy precipitation, mining engineers here revealed recently.

They pointed out that, despite the unusually heavy rainfalls of this year, mine workings are being flooded less than at any time during the past 10 years.

The only explanation offered was that when there is much moisture in the soil, all crevices in the ground are closed by softened water, causing the water to run off. On the contrary, when the ground is dry it cracks open, and what little moisture there may be runs through these cracks into the tunnels.

Bill Would Close Cuba to Natives of 19 Countries

HAVANA —(INS)— Cuba will close immigration to 19 countries if a drastic bill introduced into the lower house by Rep. Tirso Dominguez Fumero is approved.

Among the countries which would be affected are China, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Haiti, Lithuania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Turkey, Syria, Albania, Persia. Ukrania and Austrians not provided with German documents.

Bonds of $5,000 are proposed for tourists from these countries remaining six months. Provisional entry and return of the bond would be allowed if $25,000 or more is invested in Cuban industry which would not replace Cuban labor.

STATE ANNEXES RICHLAND ROAD

3-Mile Section of Lexington-Galion Thoroughfare Added to Highway System.

A three-mile section of the Galion-Lexington road west of Lexington had been annexed to the state highway system today, more than a year after the county started proceedings to have the road taken over by the state

The annexation gives the county a total of 67 miles of road which have been added to the state system in the past 15 months, County Engineer Howard C. Sword said.

Only two roads of approximately a dozen which county commissioners sought to have included in the state system last year have not been approved as state routes, the engineer said. They are the Shelby-Bucyrus and Shelby-Tiro roads, tataling about three miles.

Sword pointed out that difficulties in obtaining right-of-way easements in Crawford county have caused the delay in making the county roads into state-maintained routes.

The roads are numbered and improved after the state takes them over.

ELK STARVING

Food Shortage Cause Many Deaths In Montana.

MISSOULA, Mont.—(AP)—Starvation is the principal cause of deaths among elk of the upper Gallatin river country in the winter time, a survey by the forest service disclosed. Of 85 deaths, rangers decided 65 were directly due to food shortage on the winter range.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Over 100 years ago, two brothers, Jacob and William Grimm, decided to collect the tales of their ancestors. They spent 13 years, mostly in Hesse and Hanau, Germany, listenimng to these stories, told by old nurses, wives of cowherds and many other people.

They carefully wrote them down, and they were first published in Germany in 1812-1824. In 1823 the first English translation was published

Until very recently, only 51 stories were available in English. Now however, we have a new collection of 91 stories, with woodcuts by Fritz Kredel. This new edition of "Grimm's Fairy Tales" gives all the old favorites, such as Snow-White, Cinderella, Hansel and Grethel, Rapunzel, Puss in Boots, and of course, all these new ones. The illustrations are perfect for the book, and there are many children and parents who would find it an invaluable book to own.

Liberty Park Scene Of Diving Events

North Central Ohio Low, High Board Meets to Be Held In Mansfield Pool Next Month.

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

LIBERTY PARK will be the scene of two major diving championships in August, Russell von Wieder, manager of the popular Mansfield pool, announced today.

The north central Ohio high board diving tournament will be held in the pool Sunday, Aug 14, and the low bow board competition will be staged two weeks later.

This will mark the first high board competition ever staged in the district, according to von Wieder Due to the lack of high diving boards in this district, the event has not been as popular as the low board competition.

However, von Wieder expects a nice turnout of entries for the high board tournament.

The low board championships were held for the first time last year at Liberty park, and a record entry is anticipated. Tony Schadek of Mansfield is the defending champion in the event which is expected to draw divers from all of the neighborhood cities.

Von Wieder said that each participant will be required to do 10 dives, five compulsoary and five optional.

Pools in the N C O. district were notified for the championships today, and he expects entries to start pouring in near the end of this week The only requirements are that the entrant is an amateur. While the competition will not be conducted under A A U sanction, von Wieder stated that the rules and regulations of that body will apply.

Diving exhibitions will be held each week until the championships to create interest, von Wieder said

The first of the series of exhibitions will be held at the pool at 3 30 p. m Sunday . The exhibition, which will include a comedy act, will feature Brad Smith, Ohio State diver, Schadek and von Wieder

Hits 200 Practice Balls Each Morning.

JUST SHORTS Leonard Crawley, one of the better British golfers, hits 200 practice balls each morning . . . before breakfast Texas claims the honor of having the most teams in professional baseball . . . 24 in all Three dozen balls are used in an average major league game. The ambition of Frank Demaree of the Cubs should be an inspiration to every ball player. A few years ago when he was just a rookie, Manager Charley Grimm sent him to the club doctor one morning That afternoon Demaree didn't look very peppery in practice. "What's the matter?' asked Grimm "I don't know," replied the rookie, "unless it's because they took out my tonsils this morning"

Before the last Schmeling fight, Trainer Jack Blackburn told Joe Louis, "Listen, chappie, when you get knocked down, take a nine count, 'cause you never can get up so fast that the folks won't know you were on the floor." The late John McGraw was responsible for the introduction of the foul-strike rule in 1901 He became so expert that he could foul off almost any good pitch. One time it is said he fouled off 24 consecutive pitches You can't find it in the record books, but Al Reach, later head of a sports good concern, hit 12 home runs in one game. It happened in 1868 when he played with the Athletics in Rockford, Ill.

Ball Players Were Tough in Those Days.

HERE'S an idea of what baseball was like in the good 'ol days "Tim Hurst was umpiring and Baltimore was in the field The runner started to steal second and he spiked Dan Brouthers when Brouthers tried to trip him as he broke from first Heinie Reitz, playing second, tried to block the runner while Hughie Jennings, the Baltimore shortstop covered the bag. The runner got by Reitz and came at Jennings spikes first. Jennings dodged the spikes and threw himself at the runner, knocking the breath out of him In the meantime the batter hit Wilbert Robinson, the catcher, across the right hand with his bat, so that Robinson could not throw to second Robinson tramped on Tim Hurst's feet with his spikes and shoved his mask into Hurst s face so that Hurst could not see what was going on Hurst swung on Robinson hit him in the jaw, called the play a foul ball and sent the runner back to first! Them were the days!

Harder Again Saves Tribe In Slugfest

Goes to Hill in Ninth as Indians Beat A's.

CLEVELAND—(U P)—A seasonal record of eight victories and seven defeats places Mel Harder well down the list of American league pitchers, but the 28-year-old curve ball artist today became the hurler who was pennant insurance for the Cleveland Indians.

When the Tribe faltered on its recent invasion of the east and threatened to tumble into third place in the standing, it was Harder who rushed to the rescue Cleveland gained five victories on trip east and three of them were credited to Harder.

Faces One Batter.

In the ninth inning of yesterdays' slam-bang contest with the Philadelphia Athletics when one pitch meant the difference between victory and defeat, it was Harder who was Manager Oscar Vitt's nomination for the role

Witht two men out in the ninth inning and the tying run on third base Vitt sent Harder to the box to pitch to the ever-dangerous Bill Werber. Harder forced the Athletic star to pop out harmlessly to Hal Trosky and Cleveland pulled out with a 12 to 11 victory

Harder was the fifth Indian pitcher to parade to the mound and the only one who demonstrated any semblance of talent. The veteran Willis Hudlin started the contest and had to be relieved before he retired a man in the first inning Then followed Bill Zuber, the usually reliable Johnny Humphries and Al Milnar. Milnar received credit for the victory

The Cleveland hurlers gave up 12 hits, five of which were good for extra bases. They also issued eight passes on balls.

Connie Mack used three pitchers. Lee Ross started, but gave way to Bud Thomas in the sixth, and he in turn was relieved by Nelson Potter in the seventh Potter was charged with the defeat

The Indians scored in all but two innings, the fourth and eighth. Their big rounds were the fifth when they pushed across four counters and the seventh when they added three more

The three Athletic hurlers were nicked for 13 hits Lyn Lary with four safeties and Sammy Hale with three paced the attack

Galehouse Today.

Denny Galehouse, an in-and-outer, was selected to work the concluding game of the series today for Cleveland Either Lynn Nelson or Ed Smith will oppose him

At the conclusion of yesterday's contest General Manager Cyril Slapnicka announced Zuber was being sent to Milwaukee in the American association on option. To replace him Ken Jungles was recalled from the Brewers.

Doty's Single Robs Weigand Of No-Hitter

Only Five Reach First as Canzols Win, 9 to 0.

Gil Weigand turned in one of his greatest pitching performance of the year yesterday as he twirled the Ling Canzols to a 9 to 0 victory over Liberty park in a city recreation Senior baseball league game.

Weigand allowed only one hit as he set the Parkmen down in regular order in the seven inning game in which he struck out 10 and issued only four walks.

The only hit obtained by the Liberty team was a single by Doty. He was only one of five to reach first as the Canzols played errorless ball.

The Canzols scored in every inning but the last as they garnered eight hits off Au and Beer, who divided the Park's pitching duties

Kenny Lockhart collected three hits to lead the Canzols, and Weigand and Miller each contributed a pair to the total. The only extra base hit was a triple by Smollen

Opening Bill Halted After Third Heat

Double Up Events, Reduce Heats in Attempt to Complete Program Friday.

BULLETIN

Announcement was made by Richland county fair officials at noon that the morning sun had dried the track sufficiently to permit the resumption of the harness race meeting at 1:30 p. m. today.

MR. WEATHERMAN turned on the faucets to spoil the opening harness race bill at the Richland county fair at the Fairground yesterday.

Only three heats were run off yesterday before the deluge necessitated a postponement to disappoint one of the largest crowds of racegoers to attend any recent Richland fair.

Continue Heats Today.

Today's program was to include the regularly scheduled events, in addition to the heats of the races not completed yesterday, if the track is in good enough condition to warrant racing, Supt. of Speed B. H Huston said today after a steady early morning rain.

In an attemp to complete the races as scheduled, two heats will constitute a race instead of the usual three, with the horses showing the best in the summaries being declared the winners

Friday's program will include the 2 17 Keller & Rinenour Texaco trot, $250, 2 16 Rogers Jewelry company pace, $250, 2 12 E S Nail trot, $250, and 2.11 B. H Huston pace, $250.

The Mansfield horse which made a great showing in the Grand Circuit at North Randall, King Vagabond, owned by the Nail and Dickson stable, is slated to appear in the 2:17 trot.

Peter Patch, owned by Mrs. Robert Diehl of Marion, loomed as one of the major favorites in the 2.16 pace. The Marion horse won four out of five appearances in the Short Ship this year

The closest of the three heats run off yesterday found Tommy Bunter, a brown gelding by Bunter, nosing out Jim Neville, owned by Joe Neville of Delaware Tommy Bunter, driven by Earl Roush was forced to spurt in the stretch to stay ahead of the 12-horse field in which the first five were closely bunched.

Dr Hall, the Plain City trotter, was third, Guy Staley of Springfield, fourth and Deep Run Patsy, a Newcastle, Pa., charge, fifth.

In the second race, Callie G., by Single G won as expected in 2 10¹₂, finishing ahead of Bert Hal of the Millikin stable of Youngstown. Bonnie S was third to Bert Hal and the Tiffin champion, reined by Gabe Cartnal

Outclasses Field.

Lady Zombelle, bay filly by Peter Volo, owned by Mahlon H. Haines of York, Pa., with 23-year-old Delvin Miller up, outclassed the field in the 2-year-old home talent colt stake to win in 2 17¹₂. Tom Manning, a Cleveland bay gelding, was second

Rain brought the program to a close as Starter Wayne Groves of North Randall attempted to get the first heat of the 2 20 pace under way.

Hank Greenberg Ahead Of Ruth's Homer Pace.

CHICAGO — (U P) — Eleven years ago Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs. Today Hank Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, was ahead of the Bambino's pace and every baseball fan wondering whether he could keep it up.

Greenberg hit No. 32 and 33. In 1927 Ruth hit his 33rd home run in his 95th game of the season, Greenberg hit his in his 88th contest.

Terry, Reporters Resume Feud as Giants Lose

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bill Terry (with his pants hitting the skids like everything) is feuding with the newspaper guys again . . . The Advertising club of Newark has joined the race to raise a national fund to buy a plane for poor Doug Corrigan who had to go out and fly the Atlantic in a crate . . . Ray Fabiani the fiddling wrestling promoter has slapped a $25,000 suit on the 20th Century Sporting club because he says Promoter Mike Jacobs wouldn t install a cooling system

* * *

Burgess Whitehead has changed his tune and his mind again . . . Interviewed by Mary Hopkins, smart reporter of the Elizabeth City (N. C) Advance, Burgess now says he'll lay off hard work the rest of the season and make a fresh start next year. . . . At that, he's doing a pretty good job with a semi-pro team a couple of times a week and polo grounders wish he'd hurry back . . . Don't laugh this off, for Jimmy Braddock may try that long reported comeback . . . Business over at the store isn't what it ought to be and besides Mike Jacobs needs beauties like nobody s business

Minnesota s big woods are full of football players coaches and athletic directors getting in shape for the coming grind by battling muskellunge and northern pike . . . Elmer Layden is among those present and he s moaning louder than anybody else . . . Terry has retired from the Giants' third base coaching line probably because it just didn t do much good . . . Those who know Max Bishop say the Navy didn t miss by signing him to a three-year contract as coach of its diamond forces

* * *

What we want to know is how old is Fred Johnson the pitcher the Browns imported from the American Association? . . . Record books say he's 38, but some of his pals insist you can add three years to that and still be right . . . In which event Fred probably is the oldest regular in either major. . . . No matter how many summers he's seen slip by he went the route against the Yankees yesterday (when they were not hot but torrid) and that s something . . . Best line of the week in this book was Prof Paul (AP) Mickelson's Those Terrible Giants" . . . Old Jackie (Kid) Berg says he isn't making a ring comeback . . . "I've made money with my fists and I ll do it again . . . I have a nice home in England and a profitable business . . . I just like to fight" . . . and more power to him.

* * *

Lots of guys here are shifting from Armstrong to Ambers. . . . Giant brain trusters are lying awake nights trying to figure out why Cliff Melton slipped so. . . . Long Key, the trotter, is the favorite to win the historic Hambletonian, but don't go too strong on him . . . Is Gabby Hartnett going to keep those other guys who wanted the manager s job on the Cubs?

CUTS THE COST OF TIRE SAFETY

NOW YOU CAN BUY A FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRE AS LOW AS 67c Per Week

RIGHT now when you use your car more than at any other season of the year — when you want and need greater protection against blowouts, punctures and skidding—Firestone provides this three-way safety at NEW LOW PRICES. Now that it costs so little to make your car TIRE-SAFE car owners everywhere should replace dangerously worn tires with NEW, SAFE Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, built with these patented and exclusive construction features:

Gum-Dipping, the Firestone patented process by which every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber, counteracts tire-destroying internal friction and heat which ordinarily cause blowouts. Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord.

Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords under the tread, another patented Firestone construction feature, protect against punctures.

With the low first cost, the extra safety and the long mileage of Firestone Convoy tires, you can no longer afford to take chances on unsafe tires Join the Firestone Save-A-Life Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Convoy Tires — the safest tires that money can buy at these low prices.

Nine Teams Enter District Softball Tourney

Play Starts Here Sunday

Three Mansfield Clubs to Vie for Title in Games at League Park.

NINE teams will compete in the distract softball tournament to open at League park Sunday, District Commissioner Donald D. Cram announced today.

Representing Mansfield in the tournament are the Hartman Electrics, De Luxe Cabs, and Beeber-Ross Beers. The latter team is composed almost entirely of members of the Mansfield club which represented the district in the state elimination in Lima last year, Cram said.

Mt. Vernon will also be represented by three teams, with Ashland sending two, and Marion one. The Ashland teams entered are the Faultless Rubbers and Siler Hatchery. The Merchants will represent Marion.

Five games are on the opening day schedule Sunday, Cram said. The first game will get under way at noon.

The semi-finals and finals of the elimination will be staged at League park on the following Sunday, and the winner of the tournament will be eligible for the state tournament to be held in Elyria the latter part of August.

Chester Swank has been appointed chairman of the tournament by Cram. C. F. Rayburn has been named chairman of the protest board.

NEWMAN MEN'S CLUB HANGS UP 18TH WIN

The Newman Men's club registered their 18th softball victory of the season at the expense of the Westinghouse Range Assembly at Forest Gardens by a 11 to 9 score yesterday. The Newman club came from behind in the eighth with six runs to win the game. Chet Swank started on the mound for the winners, but was replaced in the ninth by Bush when he was injured by a line drive.

SIGNS WITH CARDS

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Preacher Ros, 20-year-old southpaw hurler of Harding college, at Searcy, Ark., today was making ready to report to the St. Louis Cardinals in New York. Ros signed with the Cards yesterday.

JAPAN FAVORED

MONTREAL—(U.P.)—Japan was a 2-1 favorite to defeat Canada in the North American zone Davis cup play which begins here today.

The heart moves 1,500 gallons of blood a day.

Refuses to Recognize Lewis, Hostak as Champs.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Two fellows who thought they were world champions, John Henry Lewis, the light heavyweight, and Al Hostak, the middleweight who knocked out Freddy Steele Tuesday night, find it "just ain't so," as far as New York state is concerned.

The state's athletic commission met yesterday and before you could say "Joe Louis" declared Lewis' title vacant in this state and declined to accept Hostak as the middleweight champion of the world.

The Lewis declaration was based on his refusal to meet Tiger Jack Fox in a title bout. The commission won't recognize Hostak because Steele, who held the title before Tuesday's fight, ignored a challenge by Fred Apostoli of San Francisco.

War Admiral In Easy Win

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—Samuel D. Riddle's War Admiral galloped to an easy victory in the ninth running of the Wilson mile here yesterday.

Leading from the start, the champion son of Man o' War won by six lengths from Belair Stud's Fighting Fox. William Ziegler, jr.'s Esposa, last season's champion mare and conqueror of Seabiscuit, finished third and last.

Top weight of the small field, War Admiral toted 126 pounds over the eight panel route in 1:39 2-5. The track was a trifle slow. The Admiral, with his regular pilot, Charley Kurtsinger up, paid 3-5.

SCORE NINE IN EIGHTH TO BEAT PARK TEAM, 13-7

Scoring nine runs in the eighth inning, the Temple Court softball team defeated the Prospect park Juniors, 13 to 7, at Prospect park yesterday. Au hit a home run, double and single to lead the winners at the bat. Nelson also obtained three hits for the Court, while Schmohil collected four hits for the Juniors.

Pages Defeat Miller Team

Only one game was played in the Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league yesterday as wet grounds again put a crimp in the schedule.

Although outhit, 15 to 14, the Page Dairys defeated the Miller Dairys, 14 to 8, at Liberty park.

J. Massa and Dillon of the Page team, and Schlosser of the Millermen, hit for the circuit. Despite the many hits obtained by the Miller team, Walters did not allow the losers to score until the seventh when they put seven runs across the platter.

The Hartman Electrics won on a forfeit from the Sweet Gulf Oils, who did not appear for the game scheduled at North park.

FARMERS!

Applying manure cannot be successfully done without a spreader—and the low price of the DAVID BRADLEY does not justify the attempt.

The David Bradley with its many improved exclusive refinements is especially fitted to the needs of the practical farmer—an implement created out of long experience in the design and construction of profit producing equipment for the farmer.

You can't afford to be without a spreader at this low price.

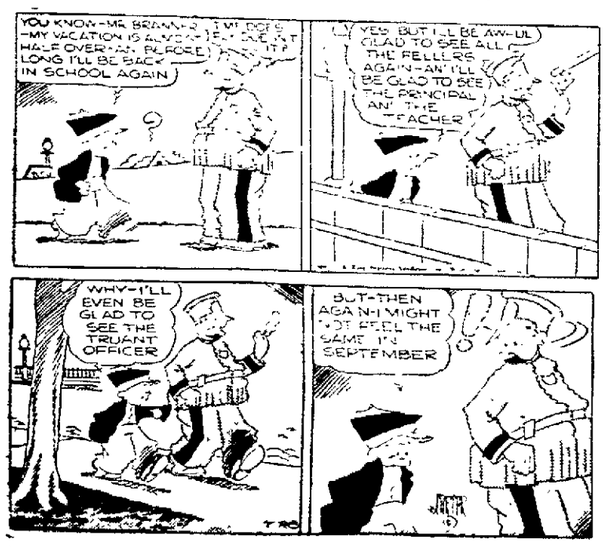
JUST KIDS By Ad Carter



YOU KNOW—MR. BRAINARD, I'VE DECIDED—MY VACATION IS ALWAYS TEN TIMES AS HALF OVER—AS FOR ME, THE LONG I'LL BE BACK IN SCHOOL AGAIN
YES, BUT I'LL BE AWFUL GLAD TO SEE ALL THE FELLERS AGAIN—AN I'LL BE GLAD TO SEE THE PRINCIPAL AN' THE TEACHER
WHY—I'LL EVEN BE GLAD TO SEE THE TRUANT OFFICER
BUT—THEN AGAIN I MIGHT NOT FEEL THE SAME IN SEPTEMBER

POPEYE—Long Live the King! By Segar

YES, MISTER FROGFUZZ, I WISHT THEY WUSN'T NO BLASTED DE-MINGS
ME, TOO, POPEYE
THE FARMERS CAN'T RAISE NO KA-BABAGES OR NOTHIN'
AN' THEM FARMERS GET SO MAD, DON'T THEY! THEY GETS SO MAD IT'S KIND OF FUNNY, AIN'T IT?
WHERE'S SWEE PEA? GUESS HE LEFT HIS CROWN AN' CRAWLED AWAY
HIS CROWN IS GOING DOWN. OH! IT'S THE DEMONS!!
HELP! HELP! SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING!
I GOT A-HOLT OF HIM!

PAM—A Check! By A. W. Brewerton

MISS CARTER, TAKE NOTES PLEASE OF WHAT MISS POTTER SAYS!
YES, MR. DALE
ALL RIGHT, MISS POTTER—WHEN I FIRST DASHED IN THE DOOR THERE, IT SCARED YOU CONSIDERABLY, YOU SAY—
I THINK IF I HAD NOT BEEN IMPRESSED WITH THE IDEA YOU WERE IN GREAT TROUBLE—THAT I OUGHT TO HELP YOU, I BELIEVE THAT I—
—WOULD HAVE TOLD SOME ONE AT ONCE, PROBABLY COLONEL CAREY.'—YOU SEE, I AM RETURNING THE COMPLIMENT YOU PAID ME—IT WAS BECAUSE I WAS IMPRESSED WITH YOUR APPEARANCE—THAT YOU WERE A GENTLEMAN—AND IN GRAVE TROUBLE—THAT I FELT IT MY DUTY TO HELP YOU!
7-28
PRETTY! GOOD-AMATEUR ACTING ON MY PART, I'D SAY! BUT IT'S JUST THE IMPRESSION I'D HOPED TO MAKE—HOW I WANT IT TO BE IN THE STORY!
WHAT YOU SAID ABOUT "TELL NO ONE" BOTHERED ME MOST!
So PAM WENT ON TO TELL OF HER EMOTIONS, HER IMPULSES, AND WORRIES, DURING THAT STRANGE INTERVAL!
THE MAN LISTENED ATTENTIVELY AND WHEN SHE'D FINISHED,
THAT WAS SPLENDID—JUST WHAT I WANTED—I AM DEEPLY GRATEFUL!—AND NOW, HERE IS A CHECK FOR YOUR VALUABLE ASSISTANCE!
WHEN PAM SAW THE AMOUNT, SHE GASPED!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—A Feeler and His Money. By Harold Gray

I HEARD TH' WHOLE THING—JACK'S GOIN' T'PUT THAT GUY, ACE, IN CHARGE O' HIS OFFICE—BOOKS, MONEY, EVERYTHING—IS HE CRAZY?
HM-M-M—NO-O-O—I DON'T THINK SO—
1-28-38
BUT, LEAPIN' LIZARDS! HE'S A GAMBLER—AND YOU HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN 'BOUT HIS STEALIN' OUR DOUGH NUT MONEY, HAVE YOU?
NOPE—I HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN THAT, ANNIE—
'ONCE A THIEF ALWAYS A THIEF'—WHY, THERE'S THOUSANDS IN CASH IN JACK'S OFFICE SOME TIMES—
THIEF? ACE IS MORE A WEAKLING THAN A THIEF, I'D SAY—
BUT THINK O' THE TEMPTATION—ALL THAT MONEY THERE, RIGHT IN HIS HANDS—
HA! HA! HA! AT FIRST HE WON'T DARE TOUCH IT—LATER HE'LL BE ASHAMED TO—SURE—JACK'S CRAZY—LIKE A FOX—

FANNY, I'M IN LOVE WITH THE WIDOW—DON'T YOU THINK SHE'S A WONDERFUL WOMAN?
WELL, TO TELL YOU THE TRUTH—LOOKING THROUGH A WOMAN'S SPECTACLES, SHE'S JUST ANOTHER WOMAN THAT'S ALL 7-28
OH, TO ME SHE'S THE ONE WOMAN—SHE'S GOT EYES THAT WOULD MAKE THE STARS ASHAMED OF THEIR SPARKLE
AND SHE'S GOT TWO CHILDREN IN THEIR TEENS—A GIRL TWELVE AND A BOY FOURTEEN—WOULD YOU EXPECT THEM TO CALL YOU 'PAPA' OR 'MR. NEBB'?
CHILDREN! AND IN THEIR TEENS! ISN'T THAT WONDERFUL? THAT WOULD MAKE US BE MARRIED AT LEAST 15 YEARS—ISN'T THAT WONDERFUL?
GO AHEAD AND GET MARRIED, STEVE—THAT'S THE ONLY THING LEFT FOR A PERSON IN YOUR MENTAL CONDITION AND I HOPE THE FATES DEAL GENTLY WITH YOU AND GIVE YOU A LOT OF LUCK BECAUSE YOU'LL NEED IT

QUIT MY JOB WITH THE SIDE-SHOW?—NOTHING DOING. COUNT—I'M GOING STRAIGHT NOW!!
YOU WILL QUIT YOUR JOB, JAVA JOE—THE POLICE MAY STILL BE INTERESTED IN KNOWING THE TRUE FACTS OF THAT LITTLE EPISODE IN—ZANZIBAR!
ZANZIBAR?—NO!—NO!—I'LL QUIT MY JOB—SURE I WILL, SURE!!
EXCELLENT!!—MY COUSIN, HERKIMER, HEAD OF THE HOUSE OF HOSSCHILD HAS ADOPTED AN ORPHAN—ONE. HE HAS NEVER SEEN. MY COUSIN'S DAYS ARE NUMBERED—
THAT ORPHAN—NOW LEGALLY HERKIMER HOSSCHILD THE 13TH—WILL INHERIT THE HOUSE OF HOSSCHILD AND IT'S MILLIONS. MY SISTER AND I—WILL INHERIT NOTHING. THE CHILD IS ON HIS WAY TO NEW YORK NOW
I GET IT. THE CHILD NEVER ARRIVES—BUT I DO, IN COSTUME. OKAY, COUNT!!
YOU ARE SMILING, JAVA JOE. YOU ARE THINKING THAT ONCE YOU ARE ACCEPTED AS THE ADOPTED HEIR—YOU CAN DUMP U.S. YOU CANNOT. REMEMBER ZANZIBAR!
DON'T SAY THAT WORD AGAIN!! PLEASE!! I'LL DO ANYTHING YOU WANT!!

SPUR RECOVERY MOVEMENT IN SLOW TRADING

Motors Lead Upswing After Prices Slip as Much as Point in Opening.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The stock market recovered today from yesterday's severe decline of 1 to more than 4 points, after slipping as much as a point in the first few minutes of trading.

Gains were relatively small, however, and dealings were at a slow and orderly pace.

Prices were soft at the opening, but firmed immediately as motors led a recovery movement. After the first half-hour, leaders settled into a narrow and dull trading range close to levels reached on the early rally.

Steels, coppers, rails and rubbers joined motor shares in the van of the upswing

Standard Oil of Calfornia, Philip-Morris, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Westinghouse Electric and Eastman Kodak featured with gains of about a point.

Sawyer Charges Governor Inciting Labor Hatred; Davey Flays CIO.

salt in open wounds." Sawyer told his Canton listeners. "You may depend upon it that I will never use my office for vindictive attacks on any part of the labor movement."

Sawyer said he was investigating reports, heard in Akron, that state employes were instructed to indorse their checks and turn them back to the governor's campaign fund.

On the Republican side, Judge Arthur H. Day in Cleveland accused Robert A. Taft of attempting "to buy" the nomination for U. S. senator, which Day also seeks.

"Throughout the state a vast sum of money has been poured out by my opponent's paid manager from many campaign headquarters in his attempt to buy the nomination," Day asserted.

Taft, speaking in Portsmouth, levelled his fire at U. S. Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, who seeks renomination on the Democratic ticket.

He said Bulkley was a "rubber stamp" for the New Deal and "has given no consideration to the views of the people of Ohio."

EXTERIOR HIDES SIMPSON FAULTS

Sturdy Appearance Belies Poor Facilities and Actual Danger Inside.

—about the time Benjamin Harrison was president.

When Fire Chief Charles Seeburger recently went over the building he looked at the long hall and those steps and said:

"Can you picture what would happen if a basement fire got a pretty good start while school was in session? This hall could be swept by flames in a few minutes and these open stairways would serve as a giant flue to carry the flames to the second and third stories. There isn't any thing in the building to keep fire from spreading and enveloping the entire interior. It's a fire trap of the most dangerous type, for it has a deceptive appearance of being indestructible from the outside."

Classrooms Crowded.

An elegant school building in 1891, John Simpson is out-moded, unsanitary, poorly lightey, dingy and gloomy today. The class rooms are as crowded as a cell block of the Ohio State reformatory, and some of them are about as attractive. Natural light in the rooms is so poor that more and more school children are coming to need glasses for their study work.

The cafeteria and the toilets and drinking fountains at John Simpson are things that every parents should see if he isn't sure a new school is needed.

Sailors might mutiny if they had to eat in John Simpson cafeteria. There's an uncombatable smell of all old buildings that prevades the place. The ceiling and walls are "adorned" with exposed plumbing. The sink and the dirty dishes are close to and in plain sight of the tables, and the food is cooked in the same room. The cafeteria's capacity is 60, and there are 1,300 pupils enrolled at the building.

There are no rest rooms at John Simpson. What passes for "toilets" are in the basement. They're awful and there isn't any other word to describe them. Even the Little Red School House had sanitary facilities that were pleasanter than those in John Simpson—which may give yon an idea.

Rusty Fountains.

The water fountains are in the same room with these ugly toilets —dark, rust-corroded trough with rusty faucets, out of which the youngsters must drink

There are one or two small windows in this cellar room, which serve as windows. It has a few inadequate electric bulbs.

School officials have done their best to keep the building clean and in repair—but it has been an impossible task. Paint and soap can't prevent disintegration, nor eliminate fire hazards.

What Can Be Done.

And just what will happen to this dingy old building, the interior of which is a fire trap for 1,300 pupils, if the school bond issue of $550,000 is approved by the voters on Aug. 9?

All of it will be torn down and discarded except the fireproof gymnasium and the fairly new heating plant. In its place would be a new long, two-story fire-proof building, made up of three main sections facing West Fourth street There would be a central school section with the gymnasium at one end and a 1,000-seat auditorium at the other end.

The exterior would be a modified classical design without unnecessary ornamental features and a maximum of window space for natural light. There would be big, light class and recitation rooms, facilities for domestic science and manual training, and there would be clean and sanitary toilets, and a cafeteria in keeping with the rest of the building.

And if the bond issue is turned down? Well, youngsters will keep right on going to John Simpson—until there is a disaster or until the state steps in and tells Mansfield that it can no longer conduct a school there.

Buffalo Replaced

New U. S. nickel . . . shows President Jefferson

Here are obverse and reverse sides of the new, revised design for the Thomas Jefferson nickels which soon will be minted to displace the buffalo nickel now used in the United States. The obverse side bears a profile of the third president of the United States, while the reverse side contains a representation of Monticello, Jefferson's home. The designs are the work of Felix Schlag of Chicago, whose drawings were selected in a nation-wide contest.

afternoon. Rain caused postponement of the races after three heats had been run. These will be run off along with the regular programs today and tomorrow under the two-heat plan

Tonight's feature attraction is a vaudeville revue to be staged by a cast of 50 performers from the Gus Sun vaudeville agency A stage has been erected before the grandstand. The same cast will appear with a different program as tomorrow night's feature. A fireworks display will conclude performances tonight and tomorrow.

A highlight of tomorrow afternoon's program will be a milking contest in which the mayors of six Richland county towns will compete The event will be staged as a fun fest before the grandstand at 4 p. m. between racing heats.

Competing will be Mayor C M. Hunter of Mansfield, Mayor D. B Young of Shelby, Mayor L. M Smith of Lucas, Mayor O. G Misamore of Lexington, and Mayor Charles Nelson of Shiloh. The town of Ganges has no mayor but C. F. Lybarger, known for his wit and humor, will represent that community as mayor ex-officio.

Jim Brownscombe will be at the microphone to let the crowd know how the contest is progressing. A prize, and Fair Board President H. H. Wolf isn't leaving anyone know what it is, will be presented the winner.

Judging of livestock and farm produce exhibits continue today and premiums will be awarded tonight All the display halls are filled

Typical of the record exhibit entries is in the cattle division. C. C. Hout, secretary, said that 232 cattle have been entered, five times more than in any previous fair. Nine tents have been erected to care for the overflow.

Pointing to the exhibits of farm equipment, Hout said that one exhibitor alone has a $25,000 display on the grounds

PLAN CONTESTS

SHELBY—Contest day will be held Friday at the Shelby Summer playgrounds, Arlo Willet, general supervisor, announced today. Contests will be held for all the members enrolled with prizes for the winners in each division

WPA 'PRIMING' BOGGING DOWN

Only 180 at Work on County Road, Bridge Project Set Up Originally for 970.

accept federal materials when they arrived.

Promised Since June.

Styert said WPA had agreed to furnish 1,065 barrels of cement for the project but to date had sent in only 332 barrels. Unless WPA materials which have been promised since June 27 are delivered here next week, the service director said the project would fold up and 250 men would be without jobs.

At Columbus today J. L. Kelley, director of district six of which Richland county is a part, confirmed Styert's statement that only a minor part of the cement had been furnished here, but said that 600 barrels were scheduled to arrive in Mansfield Aug 5. He said it was "hardly likely" that the job would have to be closed down.

He said his office was now "putting the heat" on the firm that is to deliver the cement in Maisfield but that he knew "nothing about" the 750 barrels that already have been loaned WPA and could give no assurance that they would be repaid.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter asserted that "WPA censored us with not having the projects here to put men to work, and that when we have an extensive program they can't keep it going," and said he had asked Styert to write Senator Robert J. Bulkley and Congressman William A Ashbrook to see "what could be done about" reimbursing the city for materials advanced WPA.

Explaining the reason for the low assignment figure on county's million-dollar project, Kelley said the program just got under way when he received a stop-order an assignments in his 20-county district.

"While only 55 per cent of the certified WPA workers in Richland county are employed, WPA rolls in the state are 1,400 persons over the quota," Kelley said. He predicted that it would be "30 days" until private industry absorbed some of the present workers so assignments could be renewed

Says No Money Set Aside.

Kelley pointed out that contrary to general conception, there is no definite amount of money set aside for any particular project, but rather a limit on what may be spent is made.

At present there are 266,467 persons on WPA rolls in Ohio employed on 831 projects, 1,400 above the quota.

WPA officials in Columbus revealed that during June disbursements in Ohio totaled $19,269,850, an increase of $904,702 over May Of the June total, $15,613,871 was expanded for labor, the remaining $3,655,979 being used for non-labor costs.

In May when $18,365,148 was spent by WPA in Ohio, $14,093,077 went to workers as wages.

Meanwhile in Columbus, it was reported that the state relief administration took another step in its drive to keep "chiselers" off Ohio relief rolls.

Handbills, quoting from the state law and warning that "chiselers" will be subject to a $100 fine or six months in jail, will be distributed during the coming week to all relief clients, state relief officials said. None of the circulars have been delivered to the city's relief headquarters yet, however.

TWO WORLDS + + +

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

(Copyright, 1938)

WAS Julian coming or not? It was the question Noel Shayne was asking herself as she sat on the moon-lighted terrace in a new and exquisite dinner gown of gold tulle.

She was hoping Julian would come for a few minutes anyway, if only to say goodby.

Suddlenly, Noel heard the butler making his slow, ponderous way to the terrace. As he drew nearer, she drew a quick, excited breath. "Tell Dr. Paige I'm on the terrace, Matkin," she called out in her sweet, clear voice.

"Begging your pardon, Miss Noel," Matkin began. "it's long-distance from your uncle. He wants to know if he can see you tomorrow."

Noel thought rapidly. Her trunks were gone. She and Frankie, her aunt, had all their plans made to leave tomorrow for California, and to go from there in a few weeks to Paris. But Noel was glad of an excuse to remain over another day. "Tell Uncle Peter I'll wait," she instructed the butler.

After Matkin had gone, Noel crossed the terrace and seated herself on the balustrade. The night was beautiful. A playful breeze sprang up and fanned her temples, bringing with it the haunting fragrance of lilacs. A young April moon threw a delicate glow over the sleeping gardens.

Noel sighed. She had waited for Julian over an hour. Never before in all her spoiled, luxurious life had she waited for any man. Why hadn't she gone on to the dance at the Planters with her friends?

The old grandfather clock in the library suddenly began droning the hour of 10. Then Noel heard Julian's pleasant voice, "Is Miss Shayne at home, Matkin?"

Before the butler finished answering Noel had crossed the terrace and stood at the low French windows of the drawing room.

Julian was standing before a pastoral scene by Corot. She stood in the windows gazing at his tall, erect figure, his broad shoulders and well-modeled dark head. All at once Noel knew that something had happened to her almost with the first moment of their meeting, something that all the years of her life would never undo Julian Paige was the man in whom her destiny lay, as fixed, as unalterable as the stars in the blue orbit of heaven.

Suddenly he turned Their eyes met. "It was charming of you to wait," he said, his eyes holding hers with their warm, dark gaze.

She stepped into the room, drinking in happily the quiet strength of his sun-browned face. "Cocktail?" she asked.

He nodded indifferently, and seated himself on the yellow satin Empire sofa.

"Perhaps you would prefer milk?" she teased.

He smiled. "Oh, no, a cocktail by all means. One daren't go against tradition."

Noel gave Matkin an order for milk and sandwiches. The butler's face seemed to twitch ever so slightly as he left the room Julian laughed. "You gave him a shock, asking for milk. He'll probably bring it in a champagne bottle."

"I thought you might have forgotten your dinner again," Noel said solicitously.

"I did," he admitted And added, "Or maybe it was lunch I forgot."

"Probably both," Noel rejoined. "You're a rather irresponsible young man in some ways, Dr. Julian Paige "

Julian did not answer for a moment, but sat there looking about the long, comfortable room, the handsome rugs, the grand piano holding an immense brass jar of yellow roses, the brocade chairs, the white marble mantel over which there was a large oil painting of a gray-haired man with strong, shrewd features

Matkin appeared with a silver tray which he placed on the crystal-topped table at Julian's side. When he had disappeared, Julian's eyes met Noel's. "And you are a devastatingly lovely young woman, Miss Noel Shayne."

"Is that what you're holding against me?" she asked with a teasing smile.

"Do you think any man could hold anything against you?" he countered, his eyes taking in admiringly the eager vivacity of her young face, the gleaming ivory of her shoulders, the little rounded chin with its dimple and tiny hint of stubbornness

She bore his admiring gaze with a faint smile. "Perhaps you don't care for my type?"

His eyes turned to the Corot. "Quite the contrary. I admire a girl like you, much as one admires a painting like that, always lovely and inspiring in—in the proper setting."

"But only in the proper setting?" she questioned.

"It took three generations to make you the exquisite product you are. Isn't it enough that your beauty has the proper frame and always will have?"

She regarded him thoughtfully. "You know a lot about the people who made this town, my grandfather and some of the other pioneers, don't you?"

Julian took a cigaret from the

"Cocktail?" she asked.

Japanese lacquer box, lighted one for her and then one for himself. "I ought to," he said at last. "I was born here, on the 'wrong side of the tracks,' as the saying goes." Then he laid down his cigaret. "Shall we go dancing? I imagine the night-spots are getting warmed up by now."

She shook her head. 'I'd rather talk. There are some questions I'd like to ask you."

Julian's expression grew suddenly guarded, but he said, "Go ahead. I'll answer."

Noel drew a quick breath and plunged. "I want to know why you dislike me? Why you refused my invitation to dinner?"

His eyes widened. "Don't you know it's only a defense mechanism?" There was a teasing smile in his eyes.

"That isn't the reason," she contended.

He met her eyes seriously this time, "No, it isn't. The truth is, I haven't the slightest intention of letting myself fall in love with you."

Noel's heart was suddenly throbbing high in her throat. "Would that be such—a dreadful thing to happen?" she tried to ask lightly

"For me, yes" His voice had a dreadful note of finality.

"Please tell me why."

"The answer should be obvious," he began slowly. "We met purely by accident. Just because a friend of mine who happened to be a friend of yours insisted that I attend one of her parties, which ordinarily I abhor. This one was different, of course," he went on with a smile, "because I met you. But that doesn't alter the fact that we belong in different worlds." His dark eyes rested upon her unhappily as he went on. "You play and I work. Marriages between people as different as you and I nearly always end in divorce. That's a risk I can't afford to take."

Noel turned pale, and then a flush swept her face. "You think because I've always lived to please myself that I'm a sort of selfish parasite That I've never developed stamina. That if the slightest thing went wrong with my marriage, that I'd fly off to Reno?"

"It's only that you've never had to compromise, or struggle for anything," Julian said gently. "There's no reason why you should."

"I think there is," Noel said gravely, and then added, "I think also that I can prove you're wrong."

'THE LONG WAY HOME' HEADS LATEST FICTION

New Volume Tells Story of Woman Who Finds Career Fails to Satisfy Her.

The story of "The Long Way Home" by Sylvia Chatfield Bates, is that of Ellen Bowen Swain, a modern woman who finds that a successful career does not satisfy her desire for a full life.

When a child Ellen had heard from her grandmother the stories of pioneer women who were her ancestors. The trials and tragedies that come into Ellen's life seem to have a definite connection with those of her ancestors and to be a part of the family destiny

"The Long Way Home" is one of seven new fiction volumes at the Mansfield Public library

In "Parts Unknown," Frances Parkinson Keyes has written a novel of the United States foreign service Daphne Daingerfield of King George county, Virginia, marries Michael Trent just before he sails for his first post as vice-consul to La Paz, Bolivia The difficulties and disappointments of their life in Bolivia, in Canton and Yunnanfu China, and their later success bring out a contrast in their characters as well as their devotion to each other

"Man Who Insulted Somersville" by Jennings Rice is a clever satire on small town life in which a dead man takes his revenge on the townspeople who made his youth miserable

Other fiction is "Wind Blows West" by Bower, "Son of Han," La Piere 'Dance of Death," by McCloy and 'General Washington's Dilemma" by Mayo

Hits at Propaganda.

English propaganda in the United States is the theme of Quincy Howe's book, "England Expects Every American To Do His Duty" He shows the effects of English propaganda in this country and points out England's dependency upon this country, and at the same time outlines a practical foreign policy for America

"Poison In The Air,' by Heinz Liepmann discloses new and startling discoveries in poison gas for warfare and in the artificial spreading of disease—carrying microbes, and the latest improvements in incendiary bombs

"Lucie Duff-Gordon" by Bordon Waterfield pays tribute to the qualities of mind and heart that made this victorian aristocrat a truly great person Her unconventionality and independence make her refreshingly untypical of her period

Also on the non-fiction list for the week is

"Selection of a City Manager" by International City Managers' Association

ASHBROOK SPEAKS AS BELLVILLE DEDICATES NEW SPAN SATURDAY

Bellville will dedicate its new $47,000 bridge over Clearfork creek with elaborate ceremonies Saturday, with Congressman William A. Ashbrook scheduled for the dedication address, A. A. Shafer, chairman of the dedication committee, said today

State and county highway officials who were influential in obtaining funds for the bridge have been invited to speak, Shafer said, and a number of county and district officials are expected to attend the ceremonies.

The Bellville high school band will play a concert in the afternoon, while other entertainment features are being arranged, Shafer said Mayor Thomas Ziegler of Bellville will preside during the ceremonies.

Built with state and federal funds, the bridge was opened to traffic on route 13 on July 5. It is of steel and concrete construction and is 146 feet long, replacing a narrow, wood structure.

COUNTY REAPS BENEFITS OF SAFETY DRIVE

Death Toll First 6 Months of Year Down 30 Per Cent But July Ruins Record.

Richland county shared with the rest of the nation in reaping the benefits of traffic safety campaigns during the first half of 1938, when 3,670 lives were saved in the United States, but the county lost ground in the first week of July.

Seven persons had died in traffic in the county to June 30 this year, three fewer than were killed in the same period of 1937.

In the nation, the decrease in fatalities was 22 per cent this year, and the National Safety Council forecast today that 8,700 lives will be saved in 1938 if the present rate of decline continues. In that event, the toll would be the lowest since 1928.

Despite its favorable showing for the first six months of the year, Richland county's record now shows 13 dead in traffic as against 12 to July 28 last year. A series of fatal accidents during the first week of this month caused six deaths, boosting the total ahead of last year.

29 Killed In '37.

The county had 29 deaths in traffic in 1937, with September heading the list with seven fatalities.

A survey of the National Safety Council shows Pennsylvania heading the list of states in per cent of decrease in traffic deaths for the first six months of 1938. That state cut its toll 42 per cent, while Delaware was second with 40 per cent, and Michigan third with 39 per cent. Figures were not available for Ohio.

On the basis of last year's figures, Cleveland has saved 49 lives so far this year; Columbus, 22, and Toledo, 21. Detroit reported 91 fewer persons killed in auto accidents, and Chicago 83.

The National Safety Council attributed the marked reduction in traffic deaths this year to safer cars and highways, organized safety campaigns, school safety work, traffic police, more and better drivers' license laws, and a better understanding by the public of the tragedy and the economic cost of accidents.

ARMY SHIP HERE

Aviation Officer Stops In City to Visit Friends.

One of the new A-17 attack ships of the United States Army, piloted by Capt. A. R. Cronk of Wright Field, Dayton, landed at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday at municipal airport.

Capt. Cronk stopped here for two hours to visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Olin, 135 Brinkerhoff avenue. He was returning to Dayton from Buffalo, N. Y.

Airport attendants said the new ship had a 725 horsepower twin-row engine, and is capable of a speed of 250 miles per hour.

END INQUIRY IN ASHLAND DEATH

Richland County Drops Probe After Autopsy Rules Out Injury as Cause.

Richland and Ashland county authorities today had dismissed the manslaughter theory in the death of Charles H. Fuller, 78, colored, at his home in Ashland July 5, after an autopsy performed yesterday revealed that he had died from natural causes.

Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott of Richland county, who opened an investigation into the aged man's death at the request of Police Chief Meade K. Bates of Mansfield, said there would be no further attempt to link Fuller's death with injuries he received in a fight in Mansfield.

Fuller's body was exhumed yesterday at Kenton and examined by Coroner George Emery of Ashland county and Dr. W. A. Smith, Mansfield.

Officers had hinted that Fuller's death might have been the result of a blow on the head which he is said to have received in an altercation with another colored man on East Sixth street, Mansfield, the night before his death.

Fuller, who was said to have been suffering from a heart ailment for several years, was found dead in his room the morning after the fight here.

Detectives Lee Remy and Oscar Krupp, Mansfield, were in Kenton yesterday afternoon to witness the autopsy.

2 MURDERS IN ATHENS PROBED

Restaurant Proprietor, Gas Station Operator Slain.

ATHENS —(U.P.)— A restaurant proprietor and a gasoline station operator were killed here within a few hours of each other in the first Athens county murders in a year.

Sheriff Charles Bayless said today he had no clues as to the identity of two men believed to have killed John O'Brien, 60, in his gasoline station last night.

Steve Michola, 47, was in jail today in connection with the fatal shooting of John Abraham, 65, restaurant proprietor and Michola's brother-in-law.

TAKEN TO PEN

BUCYRUS—Allen Ballard, sentenced to the Ohio reformatory on a charge of breaking and entering a week ago, was taken to the institution by Sheriff Albert French Wednesday. Ballard was indicted by the last grand jury and later confessed to the safe-cracking at the R. A. Jolley warehouse offices on East Rensselaer street. He was captured two days later in Omha, Neb., where $750 of the loot taken from the Jolly offices was recovered.

WEEKLY PAPER SOLD

GALLIPOLIS—(AP)—The weekly Gallia Times has been sold by Editor Harry R. Hurn to Sam Simmons of Point Pleasant, W. Va., and Charles Barnett of Gallipolis, publishers of the Point Pleasant Citizen.

Meeting Scheduled—A meeting of Class No. 12 of the First Lutheran church is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Friday at the parish house. Mrs. W. C. B. Harris, teacher, will preside.

Class Picnic—A picnic for members of the Christomathean class of the First Lutheran church and their families was held Wednesday evening. Fifty-eight persons attended.

HEADS PLAYERS

Dr. Bein Named President by Board of Governors.

Officers of the Mansfield Community Players for the ensuing year were elected last night by the board of governors meeting at the home of Miss Kathleen Sturges, Woodland.

Dr. Philmour Bein was elected president, succeeding Harry Lowrey, with Mrs. Fred Tracy named vice president. Charles Fox and Miss Fae Sotherland were re-elected treasurer and secretary, respectively.

The ticket campaign will be opened early in the fall, with the women of First Congregational again selling them, as they have for the past two years. Dr. Bein, who also is chairman of the play reading committee, said that no plays had been decided upon as yet.

Plays and the campaign will be outlined at the next meeting of the board, Aug. 17, at the Harry Lowrey home, 125 Parkwood boulevard.

5 DIE IN RIOTS

90 Others Injured In Wild Clash Between Moslems, Buddhists.

RANGOON, Burma — (INS) — Four persons were killed and 90 injured today in a wild outbreak of Moslem-Buddhist rioting which swept from one end of the city to the other, halting virtually all normal activities.

As the communal rioting flamed into repeated shootings and stabbings, which the police were unable to control, troops were called out to halt the disorders. Armored cars patrolled the streets.

FACE MURDER CHARGE

CHILLICOTHE —(U.P.)— Edward Burt, 47, of Londonderry, charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Ben F. Hunter, 61, Chillicothe railroad conductor, last week will be arraigned on Friday. Burt was given a "lie detector" test.

PARENTS ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE OF GALION PAIR IN KENTUCKY

GALION — Announcement was made here Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Auker of the marriage of their daughter, Helen Mildred, to John Darrel Smith, son of Mrs. Hazel Smith of Galion. The ceremony took place July 3 in Maysville, Kentucky, and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Shelby McDonald of Ashland, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith were graduated from Galion high school in 1936.

Mr. Smith attended Ohio State university, and is now a partner of the McDonald Tree Expert company of Ashland. His bride was graduated from the Mansfield Commercial Institute, and is employed as a stenographer at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

The couple will make their home at 611 Cottage street, Ashland.

ON STAND TODAY

TVA Chairman to Be Quizzed on Phosphate Land Buys.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (U.P.) — Chairman Harcourt A. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority was to take the stand today in a congressional investigation of TVA to reply to charges of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, who preceded him as chairman of the New Deal power agency.

The committee agreed to hear Chairman Morgan, at his own request, although it had ruled earlier this week that "personality" evidence in the investigation should be submitted in writing so that committeemen could study it overnight.

It was indicated Harcourt Morgan would be examined on the "inference" by Arthur Morgan last winter that "there was something improper" in the purchase by TVA of certain phosphate lands.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

THE OLD TRACTOR

FARMING is not all roses. Last spring I bought a second-hand tractor and plows. The machinery was delivered in a truck. The drive was muddy so it was unloaded by backing up against a bank along the main road then driven to the barn.

We tried it on a 20-acre sod field. It wheezed as if it had asthma, and smoke poured out, so thick and blue one could not see the outfit, but could trace the plowman's movements by the heavy cloud the engine made.

When the tractor would not go at all, I called my neighbor in, who is an expert mechanic. He diagnosed the trouble and advised a major operation. This done, we tried to plow again. We broke four cast shares, then I bought two more of steel. These did not break, but turned down at the points until they were entirely useless. I got two more.

One day, when all seemed to be going fine, I hit a rock and broke the plow in three different places. I had the broken castings welded, but when we went to work again, the one plow tilted up too high and the other ran too deep. Held up again!

A year ago, I had seen an old plow of this same make, lying in a field about ten miles from my home. I hurried over, hoping it was still there. To my surprise, it was! A rusty moldboard could just be seen, sticking up in a field of waving grass. I purchased the old plow and with a little fixing, it would work.

Since than we have plowed about 70 acres of land, fitted it, and planted soybeans and buckwheat. But not until we had performed two more operations, a major one and a minor one, upon the tractor.

There is some virtue in this tale of woe. Not only is our land-breaking task accomplished, but the hired man and I, thanks to the good neighbor's tutelage, know what it takes to make an engine go. If farming fails, we, maybe, can start a machine shop.

'LOST' HEPBURN FOUND; PLANE DELAYED BY FOG

Canada's 'Flying Premier,' 3 Companions on Air Trip, Reported Safe.

BULLETIN

CARCROSS, Y. T.—(INS)—The plane carrying Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario and three companions spent the night here after being forced to turn back by fog while en route to Juneau, Alaska. All members of the party are safe.

(By United Press)

JUNEAU, Alaska—Airport officials and Army Signal corps members today sought to establish communications with interior points in Alaska and Yukon territory in an attempt to locate Ontario's "Flying Premier," Mitchell Hepburn, and three companions who have been missing more than ten hours.

Aboard the plane with Hepburn who was making a flying survey of Canada's wheat crop were Bernard E. (Sell 'em Ben) Smith, famous New York stock market operator who has an obsession for gold mines and who made a fortune during the depression; J. P. Bickell, Toronto mining magnate who is one of Canada's richest men, and the pilot, James Towne of Toronto.

On 8,000-Mile Trip.

The plane, an amphibian type would accommodate 10 passengers but on this survey flight was fitted for only the four occupants, is owned by Bickell. The party left Toronto a week ago Sunday on an 8,000-mile trip through the new Canadian mining district in the northwest territory and across the western Canadian wheat lands.

Last night at dusk Pilot Towne lifted the big silver plane from the flats at White Horse in the Yukon territory, for the 135-mile flight to the Alaskan capital, a trip normally requiring not more than two hours even with strong headwinds.

The weather was unfavorable. The ceiling was low and heavy rain storms swept through the hazardous mountain passes that separated this coastal city from the tundra flats to the eastward of White Horse.

Emergency Landing Possible.

Towne was an experienced Arctic flier and aviators did not seem to be exceedingly apprehensive over the safety of the missing party. The first rule of polar flying is to sit down and wait until the weather clears.

Hepburn, leader of the provincial liberal party in Ontario, is one of the most colorful figures in Canadian public life.

ESCAPE FOILED

3 Jail Inmates Try to Dig Hole Through Brick Wall.

BATAVIA—(INS)—Three forgery suspects were under careful guard today after an attempt to dig through a brick wall was discovered.

The men, William Turliss, 17, Ed Tumbelson, 27, and John Willie, 21, had a hole nearly large enough to crawl through when jail officials discovered their work. All will be given a hearing later today.

CHINESE FLEE

Evacuate Hankow as Japanese Speed Toward City.

(By Associated Press)

Quick evacuation of all civilians from Hankow, China's provisional capital, was ordered today as Japan's war machine moved steadily closer to the populous tri-city area.

The command that civilians leave the three Yangtze river cities — Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang—showed Chinese fears for the area and their desire to avoid sacrificing non-combatants in expected Japanese air raids.

The Japanese today entered Hupeh province, the 11th of the 24 Chinese provinces to be involved in the war, advancing from captured Kiukiang, 135 miles southeast of Hankow.

GET LONG TERMS IN LEVINE CASE

Youths Given Sing Sing Sentence For Extortion Attempts.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(INS)—For their abortive attempt to collect the $30,000 Peter Levine ransom, Werner Fred Luck, 23, and Edward John Penn, 19, today were given stiff prison terms.

County Judge Coyne sentenced each to serve from three years and nine months to seven years and six months in Sing Sing.

The youths were convicted of attempted blackmail on June 6, six days after the body of kidnaped Peter Levine, 12, was washed ashore from Long Island Sound at New Rochelle.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"You don't have to go to the 'Lido' or Wai-Kai-Ki"...

says famous Globe Trotter

"Let me tell you about Ohio's own seacoast"

... BURTON HOLMES

"YOU OHIOANS ARE A FORTUNATE LOT. After my recent trip along the breeze-swept shores of Lake Erie I wonder that any of you should ever want any more of interest or beauty or recreation than you have at your own front door.

"The 'Lido' of course, has its attractions, and there are alluring stories about the sands at Wai-Kai-Ki. And I could go on about the Jungle Coasts of Africa or the beautiful Bay of Naples. But right now I'm brimming over with enthusiasm about your own inland 'seacoast.'

"Do you know that some of the world's finest bathing beaches are to be found all along Lake Erie's shore. I don't recall ever having seen a more enticing strip of sandy, wave-caressed coast line. And there's real beauty in the island section over 'round Sandusky Bay. Drive over there and feast your eyes upon a panorama that recalls memories of the famed Lakes of Killarney.

"Put-in-Bay isn't far away from here—just a short boat ride over the sparkling blue waters, with the gleaming white shaft of Perry's Monument as a landmark. Really quiet, restful hotels invite you to relax . . . and here sailing and boating can be indulged in to your heart's content.

"On the way back, get over to Kelly's Island. I wanted to see the famous Indian Inscription Rock, and it's worth the trip too.

"Let's go farther eastward along the shore. If the fishing villages of Cape Cod have interested you, you'll be delighted with the little town of Vermilion. And have you ever tasted delicious white fish or blue pike or lake perch direct from the finny deep . . . broiled tenderly to a golden brown . . . succulent to the last flake? Well here's the place to introduce yourself to this epicurean delight.

"On our way through Cleveland, we kept to the shore line as much as possible. There are several beautiful stretches of lake shore drive scattered along the city's coast line. And by all means, don't miss the busy harbors at Fairport, Ashtabula and Conneaut. Here you see the giants of the lakes bringing cargoes destined for faraway places.

"The beauty of it all is the ease with which one can see all this: splendid roads make driving a pleasure, along this interesting 200-mile coast line. I'll venture to say that I saw more, and enjoyed more in a few days than in a fortnight of rambling over some of the more famous play spots thousands of miles from here.

"So that you'll know where to find Ohio's best play spots, get the free guide book that all SOHIO Stations are now offering. Then be on your way to take a dip in Lake Erie's cool waters and let the sun warm you while you enjoy Ohio's white, sandy beaches. Enjoy yourself!"

Where Probation Has Worked Well.

COMMON SENSE plays a large part in Common Pleas Judge Charles H. Huston's plan of placing a number of first offenders on probation instead of immediately sending them to a penal institution.

It cannot be doubted that many first offenses are committed thoughtlessly, rather than through criminal intent, and it is in such cases that a suspended sentence is justified by the high percentage of possibility that the youthful offender will not again violate the law.

In such cases, as pointed out by Judge Huston, there is definite advantage in immediate admission of guilt instead of going through the rigmarole of pleading not guilty, standing trial and adding unnecessarily to public expense.

There are types of offenses, however, in which the judge makes it clear that leniency cannot be justified—such as driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, or otherwise endangering the lives of other persons.

Similarly classified by Judge Huston are "persons who use guns or knives when angry or intoxicated," whom he regards as "dangerous to society, and to free them may mean a worse offense the next time."

It was interesting to learn, in an article in yesterday's News-Journal, that more than 90 per cent of the offenders who were placed on probation in Richland county common pleas court in the past eighteen months have complied with the requirements of their probation and have given no further trouble.

Probation and parole, intelligently administered, offer fine opportunities to save a considerable percentage of first offenders from becoming actual criminals.

Regular Air Service to Europe.

RECENT air exploits have given new momentum to plans, long pondered, for regular Atlantic airline service. There is said to be a race of five nations for the glory and profit of getting first into the field. They are the United States, through the private Pan-American Airways; Great Britain, through Imperial Airways, subsidized by the British government, planning an imperial air chain including the United States and Canada; and other subsidized air systems operated by Germany, France and Italy. The main rivalry seems to be between the United States and Britain.

This is a friendly rivalry, of course. It is recognized on both sides that, in the present state of the world, it is desirable for Americans and Britons to cooperate informally in aviation, as they are doing in various other things. But naturally Americans hope to be first in the field. Experimental flights, patient and thorough, are about done.

Present expectation is that by fall the Atlantic will be flown regularly by planes carrying passengers, mail and freight. That will mark a new era in world communication and make the world more than ever one community.

Giving Justice a Chance.

LAWYERS, acting through the American Bar association, are starting a movement to simplify judicial procedure and speed up trials in state courts. A committee, after studying existing conditions, made five recommendations along those lines at the opening session of the present convention.

It suggested first that hearings be held in advance of trials in order to trim cases down to essentials, "narrow the issues, shorten and speed trial hearings and avoid trial in cases where it is not useful."

A second recommendation urged additional authority for the trial judge, enabling him to take part in examination of jurors and to advise juries on the weight and credibility of evidence. Other proposals would eliminate the unfit from jury service, avoid political entanglements, improve the laws of evidence and set up better methods of selecting judges.

Not all these suggestions require new legislation. Some of them may be made effective merely by the determination of trial lawyers and judges to further justice with common sense and efficiency.

Welcome Guests.

THE royal visitors from Sweden have gone home, and the final verdict here seems to be that they were exceedingly pleasant guests and we'd like to have them come again. They not only said they had a good time but they showed they were having a good time right along. Their press conferences were informal and friendly, with a free interchange of comments and a good deal of laughter. Even bad weather and the brief illness of the Crown Prince were not allowed to spoil the fun.

The twenty-six day visit of the Crown Prince and Princess and their very personable son seems to have been singularly free from swank and display and also from diplomatic timidity and carefulness. The natural courtesy of friendly people, the enthusiasms and interests of intelligent men and women, and the easy manners of well-bred people marked the visit.

Yellow Hangers More Easily Seen.

GREATER visibility of the few traffic light hangers that have already been painted yellow, encourages the idea that all traffic lights in Mansfield should be changed to the lighter color as quickly as possible.

It has heretofore been the practice to paint the metal framework of the lights in black but it has already been noted and commented upon that yellow stands out much more distinctly than black.

It is well worth while to make traffic signals as conspicuous as possible, so that transient and local motorists will have no difficulty in seeing them.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

I HANDED around, to friends, some questions that are asked of people who are trying for automobile drivers' licenses in one state. Not one of these friends, drivers of years standing, could answer even 50 per cent.

Here are a few. How many can YOU answer?

Q. When should lights be displayed on a motor vehicle?

A. One-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, and when weather conditions render it impossible to see at least 200 feet ahead.

Q. What does the law require of you as the driver of a motor vehicle which is involved in an accident on a highway?

A. Stop, give your name and address, the name and address of the owner together with registration number of the motor vehicle, to the injured person or any person requesting same.

Q. Name some of the conditions you must consider in determining a safe speed on a highway.

A. 1. Due regard for traffic conditions.

2. Surface and width of highway.

3. Weather conditions.

4. State speed laws.

5. Able to stop within assured clear distance ahead.

* * *

NOW THIS ONE?

Q. What are the requirements in approaching a school bus that stops to take on or discharge children?

A. When approaching the front or rear of a school bus which has stopped to discharge or take on children you must stop your vehicle at least 10 feet from the school bus and remain stationary until the children have entered or alighted and reached the nearest adjacent side of the highway.

Q. Name three of the five principal violations for which a person's driving license may be revoked.

A. 1. Manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle in violation of a state law.

2. Failing to stop after an accident.

3. Perjury or making a false statement in registering a motor vehicle or securing a driver's license.

4. Using a motor vehicle in committing a felony or after found guilty of any other felony under the motor vehicle laws.

5. Operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics.

* * *

DO YOU DO THIS?

Q. What should you do when being overtaken and passed by another motor vehicle approaching from the rear.

A. Give way to the right and not increase the speed until completely passed by the overtaking vehicle.

Q. What should you do when about to overtake and pass another vehicle?

A. Make certain of assured clear distance ahead, give audible signal to the vehicle to be overtaken, pass to left at safe distance, do not "cut in" too closely ahead of the overtaken vehicle.

Q. When parked at a curb what is the most important thing to do when pulling into traffic?

A. Make certain the portion of the highway which you are about to enter is free from on-coming traffic for a distance sufficient to allow you to enter safely that part of the highway.

* * *

LIKE 'EM?

How do you like these few?

We'll try more tomorrow. There may be some harder ones.

Russian Help Would Please China

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—If Russia and Japan finally get to fighting, military men, diplomats and others who are familiar with warfare and Oriental conditions agree that it will be a grand thing for China, but they are not so sure that it will be healthful for the Soviet folk in Russia. It doubtless will be bad for the mikado, too. In fact, many observers think revolution is a distinct possibility in Japan already. However, they also consider it a possibility in Russia.

China stands to profit from a big Russo-Japanese clash anyway.

Chinese representatives here are all bland Oriental smiles at the prospect. It may seem uncivilized to be pleased at the threat of spreading strife on earth, but it is easy to understand why the Chinese like the looks of it in the present instance.

* * *

JAPAN "ALL IN"?

Japan, as we know, is about "all in" in its struggle with China. It wins battles but the Chinese refuse to stay licked. Win as they may the Japanese have to keep on fighting. They are a poor people; their resources are about exhausted. If they quit, completely exhausted, THEY ARE licked—not by the Chinese, but by their own inability to keep it up any longer.

They had believed it would be a brief campaign.

They had some right to think so. The Chinese, although numerous, until recently have been disunited—split in about 20 virtually separate nationalities. Somehow, in a couple of decades, they have effected a consolidation. The late Dr. Sun Yat Sen, China's George Washington, did it, but it was a miracle, and miracles are not generally believed in. Japan did not believe that this one had been performed and neither did the rest of the world.

* * *

AS JAPAN REASONED

Shortly before Dr. Sun Yat Sen's days the Japanese had a small war with the Chinese and beat them in one battle—the battle of the Yalu river. The Chinese still were utterly disorganized then—no leadership.

Tokio was confident that it could be done again—just as easily.

Instead, after more than a year, the mikado is not getting much of anywhere toward final conquest, and he is played out—nearly.

Now comes Russia.

* * *

VICTORY OVER RUSSIA

Japan, a generation back, got a decision over Russia likewise.

But it was not much of a victory.

So far as the Russians were concerned, they were holding their own fairly well against Japan, but they were in danger of revolution at home (those were czarist times).

President Theodore Roosevelt offered to mediate. The czar, afraid of being overthrown, was willing — not on account of the Japanese, but on account of domestic discontent. The mikado, at the end of his rope, was equally willing to make terms. He (the mikado) acquiesced in a much more pro-Russian bargain that he would have considered if he had been a real victor.

All the same, the Japanese were nominal victors. They have been abnormally cocky ever since then.

* * *

RUSSIA IN BETTER SHAPE

Today Russia is in vastly better military and naval shape than in that earlier era.

And Japan, worn to a frazzle by its conflict in China, is in infinitely worse shape.

But are the Soviets less subject to domestic trouble than the Russian czarist government used to be? Its purges hint that it has plenty of dissatisfaction at home. Would not its malcontents seize the opportunity of foreign conflict to raise hades in the Soviets' own dooryard?

* * *

AS STEWART SEES IT

The Soviets hate the Japanese and probably are inclined to jump on the latter while they are preoccupied in China, even at the risk of internal difficulties.

Japanese statesmanship knows better than to go to the mat with Russia with China on Japan's hands. But Japan has a crazy military class, which favors suicide if necessary. Japan's militarists are not to be reckoned with according to any Occidental standards.

But the Chinese? They lick their lips over the situation.

Timely Editorial

Knew Life Well.

If American courts had been able to adopt the same realistic attitude that a French court adopted in throwing out the so-called balm suit of a Russian princess it would have saved American legislatures the trouble they have been taking lately to prohibit heart balm litigation.

The French court ruled that the complainant, Nadia, "knew life well" before she entered into her liaison with the defendant. Knowing life well, she entered it with her eyes open, quite aware of the uncertainties characteristic of such relationships.

Most American complainants in heart balm suits also know life well—well and cynically, one might add. Had American courts not been too precedent-bound, thanks to their inheritance of ancient English law, they might have taken a similarly realistic notice of this obvious fact. Not only would the legislatures have been saved trouble, but the law might have been left intact for the benefit of those rare complainants who, not knowing life too well, may be entitled to their day in court.—Detroit News.

Wage-Hour Law in Action.

By GUS W. DYER
Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University.

Under the law the minimum wage is fixed at 25 cents an hour for the first year, then 30 cents an hour, then 40 cents an hour. The maximum work hours per week is fixed at forty. This means that no employer will be permitted under the law to pay any man or woman, boy or girl less than $2.66 a day, and the work day will be limited to less than seven hours.

As a temporary political expedient this law has a high value to those politicians who defend an expediency to keep them on the government payroll. The law is based, it would seem, on the groundless presumptions that wages are arbitrarily fixed by employers, and hence may be arbitrarily fixed by law. As a matter of fact, wages are fixed on the open competitive market by the same natural forces that fix the values of everything else sold on the open market. Wages are determined by the productive power of the worker. High wages under industrial freedom are due to high productive power, and low wages are due to low productive power.

There is a very large group of inefficient, untrained slow workers whose productive power has a value of only 20 cents or less an hour. The productive power of another large group may reach the maximum of 25 cents an hour, and that of another group may reach the maximum of 30 cents an hour, and so on.

Business, intelligently directed can't pay more than the productive value of any element that is a factor in production. It is stupid to hold that business can pay employes 25 cents an hour who can't produce more than 15 cents an hour, or pay workers 40 cents an hour whose producing capacity is only 25 cents an hour. But the great masses of the people are grossly ignorant of these elementary business principles. Hence this law will give the politician an opportunity to appeal to the millions of ignorant voters for support on the ground that the law will increase their income more than 100 per cent. Those who oppose the law will be characterized as reactionaries, and as opposed to giving any assistance to the poor working man. The law has a high temporary political value for the demagogue.

Some Probable Effects.

1. It will close a large number of small industries that have grown up in towns and rural sections in recent years. These industries use largely green, untrained workers who can't produce the minimum wage required by the law. Hence they must either close or change from low-type labor to skilled labor.

2. The law will be a big factor in arresting the development of small industries in towns and villages. With a high minimum wage and short hours, it will be practically impossible for small industries dependent on untrained labor to get a start in business. The law will operate in the interest of the big factories located in the old industrial centers, since these factories use skilled labor, and hence will not be affected by the mimimum wage.

3. The law will close the doors of employment to millions of inefficient, untrained workers who could maintain themselves, and protect their independence, under constitutional industrial freedom. This will force millions to join the ranks of the dependents and the mendicants. The moral decay of such a change will be serious in the extreme.

4. The law will be a strong factor in creating a labor monopoly in the interest of the strong and efficient, at the expense of the weak and the inefficient.

The right to work is a fundamental, inalienable, human right.

Should We Get Tough?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT HAPPENED months ago. Yet still I wonder whether I deserve a bouquet or a bawling out. So I'm passing it on to you. Is it a true story? It is—and I'd really like to hear your honest opinion.

New Year's Eve. You know what free-for-alls our New Year celebrations have become. Everybody crashing every party they can. As a Westerner, I was bred to the code of the open door. Which worked fairly well when we kept our Varmints segregated. But nowadays, when anyone may go anywhere and do anything they darned please and no questions asked, I'm personally not so sure it's a ducky idea.

However, as I said before, this was New Year's Eve. And one of the youngsters had just come of age. Which called for double trimmings. So the rugs were rolled back and the radio sang and the lanterns bobbed, scarlet, silver and gold, against the peacock darkness of the night. A fairy tale! Girls, slender as silver wands, swaying above the water lilies. A boy, his face as golden as a newly minted coin, bending his tousled head above a lovely, wild rose child.

"Moonlight and Roses" . . . I remember they were playing that when in she came. A dark and thin young thing, drooling drunk, flapping like a soiled rag on the broadcloth arm of a big, red man. Both utter strangers.

"Heardja throwin' parshy . . . Thaw . . . thos we come . . . Hap . . . happy Newyah—"

His voice slubbered, sloshed . . . spilled into a hiccough. The girl giggled. Her crimson mouth lay open as a raw slashed wound across her greenish face. Black tendrils tangled over bleared, unfocused eyes. Hands dangling, knees straddling for balance, she slewed across the floor, stood rocking. Then, sudden as a rocket, arched her neck and screamed . . . and tore at the spangled satin of her dress . . . and lay upon the floor and rolled . . . and screamed again.

Beastly! The smear of that foul madness on the clean, sweet night. Those jungle howls against that laughing innocence. In an instant, it had all been spoiled. Now, white and still, the sickened children stared at this strange horror sprawling on the floor.

So what? Never have I faced a more difficult quandary. New Year's meant lids off . . . meant open house — that was the unwritten law. But even deeper ran another law to which we have let our children subscribe . . . the law of Tolerance. Here was a girl—drunken, to be sure—but young as themselves. A girl in pitiful, perhaps deadly need. Suppose she were my girl . . . my boy's little sister. There was horror on those young faces, but there was pity, too. And they were watching me. There was no uncertainty in their eyes. They knew what they would do. But what would I do . . . I who owned that home? What would I do with this desperately needing young thing who lay at my mercy? Sternly those young eyes asked.

And so I did it. But first the man was taken out. Or rather, to be exact, he was kicked out . . . firmly and with exquisite accuracy . . . by a very gallant gentleman who had no hesitation in such crises. Then, afterward, I put the girl to bed. And cared for her all night until she went away.

Never since have I heard from her . . . but ever since I have wondered. Would I have served those fine children—and all humanity—better if I had taken that brazen young thing at her own rating and forbidden her my home and service? Are there times when Tolerance ceases to be a virtue . . . becomes a demoralizing Vice . . . times when one betrays all decency by being a Good Samaritan?

Our parents had no hesitation in these matters. They called a spade a spade and treated it accordingly. Their doors were shut—and definitely—to those who did not observe the common code of moral cleanliness.

Today—anything and anyone goes. "Make nothing of it!" is the laughing slogan of 1938. I wonder. Are we really the Big-Hearted Sophisticates we think we are?

OR ARE WE SELLING CIVILIZATION SHORT BY OUR COMPLAISANCE?

(Copyright, 1938.)

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Honey, the old letdowns got me. I dunno why it is, but I can't come home from vacations like other people, full of pep and r'aring to go. I gotta be gloomy. I gotta feel sorry for myself. I gotta sit around with my chin in my hand, feeling like the drag end of Gloomy Sunday and wondering what Blue Monday's gonna be like.

Nobody has a better time than I do, but next day there's a lily in my hand. And that's utsnay, if you ask me. Here I am back from as pleasant a stay as I was ever on, in Connecticut it was, and instead of feeling keenly reminiscent and alive, instead of bubbling over with suppressed energy and excitement, I am lost in apathy, kindred to a whipped houn' dog.

* * *

THE rambler rose may be beautiful to Robert Burns, but it is only a blossom to me, and a thorny one at that. This metropolis may be a magic city to others, replete with romance and glamor, but it doesn't thrill me. Not today it doesn't. Tomorrow—that's something else again. But today it's only a big dull town. There's no savor to the ghoulash. All the blush has gone from the peach.

There's something else, too, that makes me feel pretty bad. I passed a ghost on the street just now, the ghost of the old White Horse Tavern. Coming across 45th street I just happened to look up and caught sight of a sign. It said, simply: "For Rent." And it came to me with something of a start that here indeed was the scene of many a gay old time. Almost everybody remembers the Tavern in prohibition days. It was picturesque and it was well managed. You had to have credentials to get past the door, and the attendants looked like fox hunters in scarlet coats. There was an ancient darkie inside named Chester who banged a little two-by-four piano and sang any song you wanted to hear. They tried him out one night and he sang 167 requests without repeating himself. That's coming through the rye.

* * *

CHESTER was a book darkie. I'm sure he came out of a book. I never saw one like him before, or since. Looking at the place now it makes you feel a little sad. The rains and the sleets of the years of Repeal have washed away the bright front of the Tavern. Today the windows, little diamond-shaped squares of stained glass, like those in cathedrals, are dusty and dim. Spiders make their homes in the cracks of the door, and cobwebs are the only lacy curtains there.

What happened to the Tavern I can only guess. But like so many other places that thrived during the dry years, it faded with Repeal. It is a memory now, a sad ghost drifting through the dry summer days.

I have often thought about Chester and wondered if I would walk into some place some night and see him perched at that little piano, grinning delightedly at his white folks, banging those tunes they like to hear.

But I never have. You'd think in all the places you go to (through the years there must have been 500 of them) you'd run into a fellow like Chester. You couldn't be mistaken. There never was anybody even a little bit like him. But I never have, and I suppose now I never will. Chester was old, and Repeal happened a long time ago.

Boy, 14, Paroled Month Ago, Sent Back for Robbery

A 14-year-old boy who was paroled from the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster only a month ago, today had been returned to the institution by Juvenile Judge C. J. Anderson.

The youth was charged with violating his parole after Mansfield police arrested him in connection with robbing another boy two days ago.

Harry Weirich, 88 East Dickson avenue, told police that the youth had accosted his son, Harry, jr., 11, while he was on his way to a store and had bound his hands with wire and then robbed him of 30 cents.

Book of the Week

"MORE LIVES THAN ONE," by Claude Bragdon; (Knopf: $3.75.)

• • •

Claude Bragdon calls his autobiography "More Lives Than One," and with reason. He has made himself a career in each of four or five divisions of activity. But the might just as well have called his book "The Life of a Gentle Man." It is that.

There is a good deal about Bragdon's career as an architect in the book—one of his products in that line is the New York Central Station in Rochester, N. Y. There is something about his career as a designer of theatrical productions; for years he did that sort of thing for Walter Hampden, and one particularly successful product was the actor's "Cyrano" production, which this writer remembers as a thing of great beauty. Indeed, both this and the Rochester station have been used by the ponderous Encyclopedia Britannica as "beautiful examples."

And so on. But what really interests Bragdon is his occult life, as a glance at his previous books would prove. Specifically he believes in a form of Yoga—not the kind which demands those ridiculous postures and exercises, but a kind of discipline of the spirit and the mind which is more beneficial for westerners. He believs, indeed, that we of the West have no business with the other sort of Yoga.

And that is not all. Bragdon also is a believer in messages from the "other side." His second wife was a medium—she worked with a pen which in her hand wrote at the dictation of the dead. He feels that these voices, from another planet have not only made his life more beautiful, but that they have busied themselves in his everyday life very practically at times. He has literally freed himself of the burden of possessions, and now lives an ascetic life, or one which seems ascetic to the average man.

Yet even for Mr. Bragdon these voices seem to mouth platitudes. There is room for only one, picked literally at random to avoid choosing a particularly vapid example: "Remember the danger of things. Keep to Beauty, and Beauty is in passing. Remember that Beauty is in life and not in things. Beauty is in passing; it feels the breath of the spring."

Bragdon's comments on his fellow-architects Louis H. Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright are much more sensible than this oracular utterance, be assured.—By J. S.

S-O-S INFECTION AND DISEASE

Common Signal of Nature is Puffy, Bloated or Swollen Condition

World's Tonic Man Says May Mean Rheumatism, Gout, Infected Eyes, Toothache, or Stomach Trouble

While Mr. George Lenord of 303, 12th St. N. W., Massillon, O., was expressing his feeling of relief to the World's Tonic man recently, the question arose as to nature's favorite way of expressing distress signals or what sort of an S-O-S she was most likely to send out as a signal of infection and disease. The World's Tonic man at once declared for inflammation. This, in some form or other was a most common danger sign in numerous situations. It has been called swelling, puffiness, bloating, pressure, and many things but regardless of the name, it often means infection and disease and always danger. Swollen joints may mean rheumatism. Swollen ankles and feet may mean dropsy or gout, puffed, swollen eyelids an infected eye, swollen jaw or cheek, an infected tooth, and bloated swollen stomach, an affected intestinal tract.

We quote from Mr. Lenord story:

"I was having quite a time with constipation and in time my bladder and kidneys became over active. This kept me up half the night and the fretful sleep I was getting left me all in next day with pains all over my back, arms, and limbs. I'd be so stiff it was almost a day's work to climb one flight of stairs. I began on World's Tonic thinking I'd be satisfied if it only relieved my constipation. Well, the first bottle did that in gratifying style and then I was overjoyed to find that here was the cause of most all my illness and as all these harmful after results started improving nicely I became more and more a booster for World's Tonic. You can call on me at any time you want a good word for World's Tonic."

World's Tonic contains a goodly portion of roots and herbs gathered from various parts of the old countries where many of us and most of our ancestors originally came from.

6 AGENTS SENT INTO STATE TO SIFT CHARGES

Political Corruption Claims Crop Out in South Dakota; Kentucky Findings Due.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Tennessee, where Democrats are waging a bitter battle for the senatorial nomination, today became the senate campaign investigating committee's chief target in its inquiries into alleged political corruption.

Backed by a sizzling committee attack upon reported irregularities there, six investigators for the senate were in Tennessee attempting to ferret out evidence of wrong-doing.

Meanwhile, postoffice department officials indicated there would be a speedy investigation into charges that the government franking privilege was violated in mailing farm security administration literature in South Dakota for alleged political purposes.

Farley Gets Demand.

The senate committee asked Postmaster General Farley to make the investigation into what the committee "concluded" was a scheme to boost the candidacy of Ex-Governor Tom Berry for the senate. Berry was recently nominated by South Dakota Democrats.

Chan Gurney, Republican senatorial nominee, filed the charges, saying that Berry's connection with the FSA two years ago was lauded by the governmental agency under mailing frank as an attempt to win votes for him this year. The FSA literature was mailed for Yankton, S. D.

While Tennessee and South Dakota were live spots in the senate quiz, Kentucky, too, was being combed for proof of charges that federal and state funds are being used to fill campaign coffers and influence votes.

Supporters of Senator Alben W. Barkley have charged Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler with converting state federal-aid funds into campaign ammunition. Chandler's campaign manager has charged Barkley's forces are regimenting destitute people on federal relief rolls to vote for him, under threat to cut off food relief.

Announcement was made by Senator Sheppard (D.) Texas, committee chairman, that by Monday or Tuesday a finding would be made on the Kentucky situation.

Amid these developments investigators for the committee were en route to Indiana, California, Illinois and Georgia to investigate various complaints of corruption.

Author of Famed British War Song, 'Tipperary,' Dies

LONDON—(AP)—The man who wrote the famous British war song —"It's a Long Way to Tipperary" —died today in Birmingham at the age of 60.

He was Jack Judge, a fish salesman who became a British vaudeville headliner. He had been in ill health for some time.

His publishers retired him on a life pension, saying Judge had written "a soldiers' anthem which actually helped win the war."

Before he earned a fortune with one of the most successful song hits of the 20th century he had spent may years selling fish in the Oldbury market in Staffordshire.

He wrote "It's a Long Way to Tipperary" on a bet while playing in vaudeville.

"It was New Year day, 1912, that someone bet me I could not write a song and produce it on the same day," he said recently.

"I took on the bet, sat down and wrote the words and music. That night I sang it at the Stalybridge Grand theater. It was a grand success."

Up and Down THE STREET

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight M. Smith, 25 Burnese avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lindsey, Lexington, who returned recently from a western motor trip, had the unique experience of watching a part of a mountain fall into the ocean, cutting off their road and forcing them to make a 400-mile detour. Near Crescent City, Cal., workmen were repairing the new coast highway which had been torn out in a landslide. It was just barely passable and a line of machines were waiting, the Smith car among them, when there was a roar and rumble, and a part of the mountain, with huge boulders and whole trees came tumbling down across the road. The Smiths had to make a 400-mile detour over bad roads, with one-way traffic in many stretches, in order to get back to where they had been, only on the north side of the slide.

Hunter, who is entered in the milking contest at the Richland county fair tomorrow afternoon along with the mayors of five other Richland communities, is somewhat skeptical as to his ability as a milker after 35 years' absence from the farm. Hunter intimated today that he might make a trip to the grounds early "just to have a litle talk with the member of the bovine family" who is to make up the other half of his team.*

A lot of funny stories are being told about Venus these days—but the lady doesn't know it. Venus, third brightest object in the heavens, has been unusually brilliant in the western sky these evenings. Some folks have told fantastic tales about a huge searchlight over Chicago, supposed to be a memorial to Thomas A. Edison. It would be something if a man-made light were visible such a distance, but it isn't the case. Venus, in case you didn't know it, is now at the point in its orbit closest to the earth. There's another bright light in the east, too. That's Jupiter.

Webster Shryock, 51 Arthur avenue, who has been a member of the county fair board for more than 40 years, is one Mansfielder who still checks the almanac for weather predictions, and it is not often that it is wrong, he says. Late last fall when the dates were set for the current fair, "Webb" checked the almanac, and it predicted bad weather. He told his fellow members of his findings, but got nowhere with his suggestion for a change. Yesterday when the downpour ruined the afternoon program, "Webb" took some delight defending his almanac and in saying, "I told you so."

NAZIS SAY U. S. REJECTS PACT

Claim Trade Treaty Would Have Boosted Imports From America by Millions.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Responsible German sources said today that Germany had offered to negotiate a trade treaty with the United States and had been refused.

The offer, they said, would have started a graduated increase of imports from America, leading to annual guaranteed purchases of American goods amounting to $222,000,000 compared with $125,000,000 last year.

State department officials confirmed that the German government had made such a proposal but said that it had not conformed to the basic requirement of this country's trade pacts—that both signatory nations shall treat each other's goods on a "most-favored-nation" basis.

The United States treats all countries the same, generally, but it claims that Germany discriminates against American goods. As a result of many disputes, German-American trade has been only a fraction of what it once was.

Germans here, who spoke for their government, said that the essence of their offer was to fulfill, as soon as possible, the "most-favored-nation" requirement, and that their government repeatedly had made that clear to American officials.

Under the German plan four typical years of trade between the two countries would have been selected with a guarantee to restore trade to that average level.

FINDS HE CASHED PHONEY CHECK

Store Manager Asks Police to Hunt Man In $40 Fraud.

Police today sought a man who gave his name as R. J. Fisher, after a downtown merchant reported that he had cashed a worthless check for him.

Saul Doppert, manager of the Penn Auto Supply, 25 North Walnut street, said the man tendered a check for $40.30 for payment on a $1.65 purchase, and received $38.65 in change. The check drawn on a Youngstown bank was signed by W. O. King, City Hospitau Inc., Doppert said.

He reported that the transaction had been made more than a week ago and was not discovered until today when the check was returned marked "no account."

4 CLEVELAND CHILDREN DIE AS CAVE COLLAPSES, BURIES THEM

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—The suffocation of three boys and a girl beneath tons of earth was laid today to a childish urge to make a cave "to hide in if it rains."

Trapped as they burrowed into a sandy hillside yesterday, the four victims were:

William Malzan, 13; Agnes Majkrzak, 8; Edwin Kruczek, 9, and Leonard Jarzembak, 10.

Ten-year-old Ruth Malzan, sister of William, who barely escaped the same fate, saved the life of Eugene Kuchnicki, 9, by digging frantically with her hands until the boy's face was uncovered.

The tragedy occurred in a steep, 25-foot embankment near a rapid transit line right of way on the city's southeast side.

"We found the rain had formed a gully," Ruth explained. "One of the boys suggested digging into the hillside and making a cave. I helped with a piece of iron I found.

"All of a sudden, the dirt began to slide. I was near the entrance to the cave and the falling dirt pushed me outside. I started digging with all my might and when I got down a few inches I had taken the dirt off Eugene's head so he could breathe.

"I tried to dig some more, but I couldn't. I ran to a service station and asked them to call for help."

Two fire rescue squads and a score of policemen dug nearly an hour to uncover the bodies. Firemen applied artificial respiration in vain.

Common funeral services were planned for Agnes, Edwin and Leonard, whose bodies were taken to a funeral home, but that of Ruth's brother, William remained at the county morgue. His father, Edmund Malzan, said he had no money to pay for the boy's burial.

TOWNSEND MEET

17th District Rally Scheduled in Central Park Monday.

A 17th district Townsend club rally, expected to draw supporters of the plan from the six counties in the district, will be held in Central park at 7:30 p. m. Monday, it was announced today.

Speakers at the rally will be Walter Woodward, Bellville, supporters of the Townsend pension plan, and a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress and Charles M. Newell, national representative of the movement, Cleveland.

Woodward yesterday was endorsed for nomination by the national Townsend organization, Associated Press dispatches said.

AUTO KILLS MAN, 74

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Funeral arrangements were made today for Jacob Miller, 74, who died from injuries received when struck by an automobile.

HOCKENSMITH RITES 2 P. M.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Almeda Hockensmith, 60, of 129 Lida street, who died at her home Wednesday, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 2 p. m. Saturday instead of 10 a. m., as previously announced. Rev. J. W. Wilkerson of the Glad Tidings Tabernacle will officiate. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

PUSH ON WHILE FASCIST TROOPS STAY INACTIVE

Insurgent Army Gives No Sign of Counter-Attack, Loses More Ground.

(By United Press)

WITH THE SPANISH LOYALIST ARMY, EBRO RIVER FRONT—The Loyalists mopped up in the hills on the Nationalist side of the Ebro river today after reaching a line whose main points are Ribarroja, Fatarella, Villalba, Gandesa, and Bot.

They have taken more than 4,000 prisoners and a considerable quantity of war material including one complete trainload of supplies with its crew and military guard.

The Nationalists have seemed unable yet to react. Nowhere is there any signs of a counter-attack. The sole reply so far to the Loyalist offensive has been continuous air activity.

Ho)wever, the Nationalist airplane attacks have been somewhat of a boomerang because among the worst sufferers have been the Nationalist prisoners being taken back across the Ebro in trucks.

Sing On Way To Battle.

Loyalist troops continue marching to the front in the highest spirit. The hills ring with their songs. When they meet truckloads of prisoners going back they taunt:

"How do you like fighting in a foreign army?" "How do you say 'I love you' in Italian?" "Have you brought any spaghetti?"

The potentialities of the present operation, from the Loyalist viewpoint, can be realized that when the Nationalists reached the Mediterranean coast in mid-April they came down the Zaragoza highway to Val de Algorfa, where the main road branches. They followed one branch to Gandesa—which the Loyalists have now reached—and then, skirting around around Tortost, went on down to Vinaroz. Along the other branch they reached Castellon by way of Morella and San Mateo. These two branches of the road skirt the coast and avoid the steep mountains of Costellon province farther inland. If the Loyalists kept on many of the Nationalishts along the coasts might be caught in a pocket and find themselves unable either to continue southward or to retrace their steps. They would then be forced to fight a difficult rear guard action in the mountainous region.

DOCKET CLEAR

Beer Damage Case Last of Three in Supreme Court.

When the Ohio Supreme court ruled yesterday in a damage suit filed by Miss Helen Beer of Mansfield against a Columbus insurance firm, it cleared the docket of cases brought up from the Richland county court.

C. A. McKinley, county court assignment clerk, said the Supreme court had disposed of three Richland county cases in recent weeks and that there are no others pending.

The state court reversed an appellate court yesterday and awarded Miss Beer a judgment for $2,125 against the Buckeye Union Casualty company.

She had previously won a common pleas court judgment against her brother, Wilbur G. Beer, Mansfield, driver of the car in which she was injured four years ago. The insurance firm was sued after the brother failed to pay the damages.

Miss Beer was represented by Attys. Lewis Brucker and H. M. Rusi, while Attys. Henkel and Gongwer had been counsel for the defendants.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Needed: A Society That Will Be Indifferent to the Private Lives of Others.

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Interviewed in London by a journalist from the Star, Miss Peggy Hopkins Joyce is said to have said:—"Everywhere I go they ask me the same two questions—'Are you in love, Peggy?' and 'When are you going to marry?'"

These be intimate questions, and I hereby offer to accept the presidency of a great international order of those who never have asked and never will ask them—not out of good manners, but because we can imagine, nothing of less consequence.

Not to trap any members onto the rolls by secret reservations, I openly propose in advance that this society be further committed to a program of vigorous and unflagging indifference as to whether Miss Greta Garbo has married, intends to marry or doesn't give a whoop in hell for Leopold Stokowsky; where and when Charlie Chaplin married Miss Paulette Goddard; whether Miss Lupe Velez remains married to or gets a divorce from Johnny Weissmuller, and whether Billy Rose, the present husband of Miss Fanny Brice, has any intention or desire to marry any other lady, particularly Miss Eleanor Holm Jarrett, the swimmer.

This prospectus clears up the current, pressing business of the proposed society, but the program should be left open at one end so that other items may be added as they occur in the romantic life of persons of similar distinction. Someone may wish to nominate for the official and formal inattention of our society the affairs of Mr. Tommy Manville, but I, for one, would argue against their adoption on the ground that the roll of those who would rather not hear any more about the love life of this scion is limited only by the roster of the human race.

We should, I think, confine our indifference to live issues, not waste it on the confirmation of conquests already won. A friend to whom I explained the purposes of the society expressed eagerness to become one of the founding members and proposed that we add to the list of matters to which we will address our active indifference the question of who is to play the role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind." It later developed, however, that the lady who is to play this role already had been selected without our having noticed as much, so we decided that this one also was finished business and need not clutter up our program.

We did think, though, that the social activities of the Countess Dorothy Di Frasso, of Hollywood, no matter who the countess might be—and we are sure we do not know—would bear watching and, given a little more publicity in the gossip columns, might qualify for the full force of our unanimous unconcern.

And we would have placed on the tentative list the marrying of that Chicago lady who inherited a patent medicine fortune, except that we could not remember any of her names. This seemed to dispose of her without a contest.

* * *

Regarding Miss Joyce, whose remarks on love and marriage inspired this idea, the story from London observed that she married first in 1912—a subtle but potent reminder that this inveterate bride has been marrying, off and on, for a quarter of a century. A whole generation has been born and come to manhood and womanhood since she took her first vows, and we look for a large list of eligibles among this class, many of whom may wonder why anyone ever asked Miss Joyce whether she were in love and when she was going to marry. Among the elders, nevertheless, there must be many others who took her ventures calmly and never asked her or even themselves, "Is Peggy Joyce in love?" Gallup might take a poll on that one.

* * *

Assurance is given that anyone wishing to join our society need have no fear that any inside clique will commit the members for or against the New Deal or the CIO or anything else. We are neither for nor against anybody or anything, for indifference is our invariable policy, and thus be our motto:—So what?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

By CAREY WILSON

HOLLYWOOD—They call Hollywood "The City of Make-Believe" and I admit that most of the phantasmagoric figures that flash across your silver screens are conceived in imagination and born of metaphoric parents. But there is a celluloid fable—or rather a series of fables—concocted entirely out of reality. The Judge Hardy series of pictures is tailored to a single and iron-clad premise: "If it hasn't happened to you or someone you know, we can't use it in the Hardy Series!"

If, as audiences seem to be saying throughout the world, a Judge Hardy picture is true to life, the public dictum has arisen out of this studio law. If it hasn't happened to you, or someone you know, we can't use it!

Aurania Rouverol, playwright-authoress of "Skidding" which, as "A Family Affair," started all this Hardy business, freely admits that her characters were dramatic paraphrases of her own family. Kay Van Riper, Agnes Christine Johnston, Bill Ludwig—all contributors to Hardy scenarios—will not deny that they use their memories rather than their imaginations in their Hardy efforts. And not a few of the amazing adventures of young Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy bring now-humorous but then-bitter memories of a small boy named Carey Wilson in the town of Rutherford, New Jersey.

* * *

SO IT IS that the Hardy stories are never written—they "just grow," like the immortal Topsy. Anybody and everybody on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot may pop up at any time with a valuable suggestion. And it's never put in the form of a suggestion like 'I just thought up a swell idea for the Hardy Picture.' No, it's inevitably more like "I remember something that happened to my kid brother back in Kansas." And a surprising number of these impromptu suggestions are immediately seized on as appropriate and valuable.

There must be a dozen prototypes in the studio organization for each member of the Hardy Family—mothers who have growing daughters like Marian Hardy; fathers who have adolescent sons like Andy; boys just out of their teens, to whom come readily the recent occasions of their schoolboy adventures and romances; and many a father, who like Judge Hardy himself, has both a young son and daughter. Like me.

* * *

THUS it is that through the walls enclosing a Hardy story conference are liable to leak phrases strange indeed for movie conferences: "Listen! When my dad first caught me smoking a cigaret, he whaled the tar out of me! . . . My dad didn't. He stopped my allowance for three—I tell you that no young girl would act the way you want this girl to act—I ought to know—my kid's 17 and she wants to know when she can start drinking cocktails! . . . That's a lot of rot—my 18-year-old daughter has never gone out with a boy yet!"

But these disagreements are only a matter of degree. For we found that in the long run what happens to a 16-year-old boy in Rutherford, N J, is pretty much the same as what happens to his prototype in Winona, Wis

SAPPHO CLUB HOLDS MID-SUMMER LUNCHEON

Mrs. John Finefrock and Miss Thelma Reed Explain Literary, Musical Program for Coming Year; First Session In October.

THE mid-summer meeting of the Sappho club was held yesterday at Schwarz's tavern on the Lexington avenue road with luncheon being served to the members preceding a brief business meeting. Mrs. C. F. Ewing, retiring vice-president, took charge of the session, and then introduced the new president, Mrs. C. F. Sheriff, who presided.

Mrs. John Finefrock, member of the literary committee, explained the literary part of the program and Miss Thelma Reed, music committee, told about the musical selections planned. Other members of the two committees are Mrs. E. C. Jenkins, Mrs. H. W. Peterson, Mrs. A. C. Butterfield and Mrs. J. M. Johnston.

"Our Heritage" is the general theme of the literary program, while the music will follow the general idea of "trends." The musical program will present selections from the pre-classical, classical, romantic and modern periods. Heritage in beauty, courage, justice, opportunities, faith, culture and literature, arts and crafts, science and mercy will form the topics for papers throughout the year to be given by the members.

The club session will open with the inter-club luncheon to be given Oct. 3 at the Westbrook Country club. Sappho members will hold their first regular meeting Oct. 5. Sessions will be conducted at the Women's Club with luncheon meetings every other session throughout the year. Mrs. McPeak, Columbus, and Mrs. William K. Mackey, past president and former Mansfielder, were guests.

* * *

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

Mrs. Lawrence Powell entertained members of the May-Be club yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ralph Earnest, 272 West Sixth street. Bunco was played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Clifford Cochran and Miss Mary Turick. Mrs. Hugh Sturgeon, 32 Chilton avenue, will be hostess Aug. 10.

* * *

CORPS MEETING.

The McLaughlin Women's Relief corps No. 26 met last night with Mrs. Clarence Beelman, 16 Atherton avenue. Mrs. Beelman conducted the session, and a social hour then followed. Mrs. Albert Hancock won the contest prize. Mrs. Beelman will again entertain at her home Aug. 10.

* * *

ENTERTAINS DIVISION.

There were seven members of Division A, Ladies' Aid of the First United Brethren church present at the home of Mrs. W. C. Cates, 355 North Townview circle, for a business meeting yesterday. Mrs. D. H. Stoner led the devotions. Luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Aug. 17 at the church.

PLAN REUNION.

The annual Picking reunion will be held Sunday at Johns park. Dinner will be served at noon.

June Marriage of Galion Girl Told

An announcement of interest to both Mansfield and Galion residents is being made today by Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron, Galion, who are disclosing the recent marriage of their daughter, June. Miss Cameron became the bride of Wilbur Knackstedt June 10.

Mr. Knackstedt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Knackstedt, 185 Bowman street. The ceremony was performed at Newport, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Knackstedt were attended by Miss Eileen Scheffler, Galion, and Harold Boyce, Mansfield.

Mrs. Knackstedt is a graduate of Galion high school, and Mr. Knackstedt was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school. He is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. and Mrs. Knackstedt are at home with the bridegroom's parents at the Bowman street address.

Honor Mrs. Spear With Kitchen Shower at Home

Mrs. E. H. Felton, 101 East First street, entertained last night with a kitchen shower in honor of her daughter, Mrs. William Spear, the former Miss Althea Felton. Games were played and luncheon was served at small tables decorated with garden flowers.

Prize winners were Miss Patricia Harvey and Mrs. Harold Roberts. These awards, along with the shower gifts, were presented to the guest of honor.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

White Costumes, Accessories Take To Summer Sun

PRACTICAL

Practicality is a primary consideration in this summer costume, for the coat can be worn with a number of frocks and the dress with jackets. It combines a straight loose coat of white-striped navy blue surah and a frock of sheer white rayon crepe belted with frabric to match the coat. The big-brimmed hat is of stitched white linen.

WHITE MAGIC

White—always a favorite with dark-haired beauties—has made a big splash both in clothes and accessories this summer. This frock, made of a sheer dull-finished rayon crepe which falls in soft supple folds, is accented with black linen sleeves covered with a white quilted floral pattern. The same motif centers the crown of the big white linen hat.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.
